Giant Sea Battles Raging Off Solomons

CALLED VITAL AS CORAL SEA, MIDWAY GAINS

Marines Consolidating Posts on Pacific Islands Steadily, MacArthur Reports.

JAPS ADMIT LANDINGS

U. S. Forces Believed To Have Firm Hold on Important Harbor at Tulagi.

(By United Press)

GENERAL M'ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia—American marines were reported steadily consolidating their Solomon islands positions today and it was believed a series of naval engagements rivalling those of Coral sea and Midway still were in progress.

At stake in the naval warfare is control of the seas off northeast Australia and on the outcome depends the ability of the Allies to maintain the necessary flow of seaborn supplies to the fighting Americans in the Solomons

Some experts believed that when the full story of the naval engagements becomes known it will rank as more important than either the Coral sea or Midway battles as a test of naval power in the southwest Pacific.

(An Auckland dispatch reported that land-fighting in the Solomons had developed into a knockdown, drag-out encounter but doubted that reports of the capture of "thousands" of Japanese prisoners were correct. Auckland headquarters tended to minimize the extent of naval engagements fought thus far).

It was noted here that if the Allies are to maintain and develop the Solomon islands positions as an offensive base for a pincers attack on Rabaul they must

Judge 'Sentences' Mansfield Youth To Navy Service

James Eugene Martin, 18-year-old Mansfield colored youth, was "sentenced" to join the navy today by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston after the youth said he would prefer going into the navy to a term in the Mansfield reformatory.

Martin, one of four former Mansfield CCC camp enrollees who admitted beating and robbing a white man in Mansfield several weeks ago, was placed on probation by Judge Huston July 1 and was brought back into court today on a charge of violating his probation.

Two of the four youths were previously sentenced to the reformatory by Judge Stuart H.

As American-Built Bombers Smash At Nazi-Held Ports In France, Holland

Detroit Mayor Slaps Back At Life For War Output Feature

DETROIT — (AP) — Detroit's mayor and leaders of its union labor today took issue with an account of this city's performance in the war production effort published in the current issue of Life magazine.

Mayor Edward J. Jeffries and R. J Thomas, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, contended that the five-page lead article, entitled "Detroit Is Dynamite," had unjustly impugned Detroit's patriotism

"I'll match Detroit's patriotism against that of any other city in the country," declared Jeffries last night. "Why, anyone who lives here knows we haven't had a major labor dispute except that on the Detroit street railways last year, in three years.

"The whole story in Life is scurrilous, with just enough half truths to impress anyone who doesn't know the facts. Life doesn't tell anything about the real miracles of machines that have been performed; nothing about Chrysler tank production, nothing about what Ford has done in making airplane engines * * *."

Thomas, declaring "there have been a few isolated strikes in the automobile industry, but not one-tenth the number there were before Pearl Harbor," added that "there is a definite common purpose between labor and management in Detroit to maintain all-out war production."

Jeffries said he didn't think Detroit would take any official action to repudiate the picture story, declaring "I'd just call it a yellow magazine and let it go at that."

The Life artilce stated that Detroit's war production had been "cut by wildcat strikes and sit-downs" and that the city's workers, led by the lusty UAW, seem to hate and suspect their bosses more than ever."

American Shipyards Send New Vessels To Sea.

SOUTH PORTLAND, Me.—(AP)—American shipyards sent 11 new ships into the water yesterday—eight in Maine, in the greatest mass launching in the nation's history—but workmen were urged to even greater efforts by Admiral Emory E. Land.

"Every hour saved in a shipyard may mean a life—yes, even a dozen lives saved in the fighting forces of the United States," the chairman of the Maritime commission asserted in Maine where six freighters and two destroyers slid down the ways at three busy yards.

And in Texas, three ships were launched—a minesweeper and a cargo ship at the Pennsylvania yards in Beaumont, and the destroyer Murray at the Consolidated Steel Corporation, Ltd., Texas yards at Orange.

City To Be Host This Week To League Of Ohio Sportsmen

Sportsmen and wildlife conservation advocates from all sections of Ohio will assemble in Mansfield Saturday and Sunday for the annual summer conference of the League of Ohio Sportsmen.

More than 300 persons are expected to attend the meetings which will deal with the sportsman's part in the war program and the problems facing wildlife conservationists during the war period. Host at the conference will be the Richland County Fish and Game Protective association, headed by Gordon Ensminger of Mansfield.

Conference headquarters will be at the Mansfield-Leland hotel where the business meeting and major conference discussions will be conducted Sunday, beginning at 10 a. m. Dedication of the Johnny Appleseed forest, started by Mansfield area Boy Scouts at Charles Mill lake, is set for Sunday at 4:30 p. m.

Among the conference speakers will be Richard Lindeman of Delphos, president of the League of Ohio Sportsmen; A. W. Short, chief of the game management bureau of the Ohio Division of Conservation; Bryce Browning, secretary of the Muskingum Conservancy district, and Larry Wooddell, Ravenna conservationist.

Feature of the Saturday program will be a meeting opening at 7 p. m. at Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm.

Speakers at that session will be John C. Friday, chairman of the Richland county committee on arrangements; Bromfield and Lindeman. Bromfield is scheduled to speak on the topic: "A

10 INJURED IN AUTO CRASHES

Eight Killed in Accidents Over State; Father of Boy Driver Fined.

At least seven persons were killed in traffic accidents on Ohio highways over the week-end while 10 others received only minor injuries in five accidents reported in the Mansfield area.

Three Crestline residents suffered cuts and bruises Sunday morning in a collision on State Route 181, one mile east of Crestline. The owner of one of the automobiles was arrested for permitting his son, a minor, to operate the car.

The collision occurred when autos driven by Roy E. Sharp, 14, of Crestline, and Norbert R. Weaver, 44, also of Crestline, crashed as the Sharp youth was

$200,000 Still To Be Paid In Lagging Tax Collection.

Richland county property owners will have to pay more than $200,000 in real estate taxes in the next four days to meet the county's second-half tax charge by the Aug. 20 deadline.

With collections still lagging, payments at Treasurer Charles C. Payne's office today amounted to $395,021. Of that amount, $8,071 was collected Saturday when the treasurer kept his office open all day.

The county tax charge for the half year is more than $600,000 Payments must be made by Thursday night to avoid penalty. Payne said mail payments and the collection of large public utility accounts probably will boost the total rapidly during the next few days.

PLANE CRASHES

Pilot, Student Killed As Craft Goes Into Spin.

GREAT LAKES, Ill.—(U.P.)—An "inadvertent spin at low altitude" was held today as the cause of a plane crash that killed 2nd Lieut. Rolfe Nathan Berge, 26, a marine corps reserve pilot, and injured his student, Cadet Jaul M. Simundza.

Berge's navy training plane crashed yesterday three miles south of Barrington, Ill., officers at the naval training station here said he had attempted an emergency landing when the plane went into a spin.

FIRMS HONORED

Ohio Industries Among 46 to Get Production Awards.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The war department announced today selection of 46 industrial plants to receive the army-navy production award in recognition of outstanding performance on war work.

Ohio firms included: Bauer Brothers company, Springfield; Columbiana Boiler company, Columbiana, and the General Machinery corporation, Hamilton.

Gilead Youth Hailed As Hero Of Air Crash Which Killed 17

A 23-year-old youth who quit his job with the Hydraulic Press company at Mt. Gilead today as the hero of an army transport plane crash in the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts which killed 17 of the 20 men aboard.

Although his clothing was burned from his body and he suffered serious burns, the young soldier—Sergeant Robert Lee of Columbus — pulled two fellow passengers to safety, removed two bodies from the wreckage, and walked three-fourths of a mile to the nearest highway to direct state police to the wreck scene. He had previously fired three shots from his gun to signal for help.

The wreck occurred late Saturday night in the rough country near Peru, Mass. Investigation of the accident, one of the worst in history of U. S. military aviation, was under way today, but the army released no details on the probable cause.

Sergeant Lee and the two soldiers he pulled from the debris were the only survivors The two he rescued were Private James Fern of Abingdon, Va., and Corp Alonzo Pearson of Somerset county, Pa. Both were seriously burned.

Lee lived with his family at Mt Gilead before he entered the army and attended school there. He visited his mother, Mrs. Hazel Lee, in Columbus last June while he was on furlough. She moved to Columbus early this summer from Mt Gilead. She said he enlisted in the army air corps in March, 1940, and was graduated from a school for parachutists in August of that year He was promoted to sergeant last March.

Post $200 Reward To Solve Butler Acts Of Vandalism

Richland county commissioners today offered a $200 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for acts of intimidation against Kinsey Morgan, Butler school board member, and destruction of his property.

Commissioners proposed offering the reward two weeks ago but waited until Acting Prosecutor John C. O'Donnell investigated to determine whether they could legally offer the money in a case involving destruction of property.

Action was taken by commissioners at the request of a delegation of residents of the Butler community who visited them two weeks ago and displayed petitions bearing more than 400 signatures

MEATLESS DAYS

They're Being Planned To Alleviate Shortages.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Plans for "one or more voluntary meatless days each week" are being drawn up by agriculture department experts today to alleviate shortages until a "straight meat rationing" plan can be worked out.

Officials working on the scheme hope to have it approved by the war production board's foods requirements committee tomorrow

The committee, headed by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, will meet then to decide what immediate rationing measures must be taken to solve the nation's meat distribution problem.

Agriculture sources said that the expedient "meatless day" program is needed now to tide over "scarcity areas" until the seasonal October rise in livestock slaughter brings relief. "The program should be ended at about the middle of October, they said.

ONE KILLED AS TRAINS COLLIDE

Passenger, Freight Figure In Crash Near Adrian, Mich.

ADRIAN, Mich — (AP) — One trainman was killed and another critically injured today when a westbound Wabash railroad passenger train struck a northbound New York Central freight train at a crossing near Raisin Center, eight miles northeast of Adrian

First reports were that none of the more than 100 passengers on the Wabash train was injured. None of eight passenger coaches left the rails.

The passenger train, bound from Detroit to St. Louis, struck about the middle of the 15-car freight train which was en route to Jackson. The Wabash locomotive sliced through a box car, splinters of which were spread for about 300 feet along the right-of-way.

DRIVING CUT

Reports Show Ohioans Decrease Non-Essential Motoring.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—State Highway Director Hal G. Sours said today that "non-essential driving in Ohio has greatly decreased and is continuing to decrease."

Sours said he based his statement on statistics compiled from automatic traffic counters operated by the highway department at various points throughout the state outside the metropolitan areas.

Nazis Advance As Reds Fall Back at Maikop

Russians Admit Loss of Important Oil Fields But Claim Installations Blasted, Say Enemy Losses High In New Offensive.

(By Associated Press)

The German offensive in the Don bend flared to full force today in a powerful new drive toward Stalingrad while in the Caucasus the Russians fell back from the ruins of the Maikop oil fields toward their next petroleum producing area at Grozny.

A Russian communique reported a terrific toll of new Nazi manpower and material thrown into the assault southeast of Kletskaya and northeast of Kotelnikovski against the flanks of the fortified line guarding Stalingrad.

Battlefront dispatches said the Germans rolled forward at tremendous cost in the Kletskaya salient, 75 miles northwest of Salingrad, but were held firmly at the Kotelnikovski flank, 95 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

In the Caucasus, extending Axis lines appeared checked on the Krasnodar flank where the Germans are thrusting toward the port of Novorossisk but they stretched ever farther to the southwest along the rail and oil pipe line toward Grozney and the Caspian.

The Russians reported fightings southeast of Mineralnye Vody, 140 miles from Grozny.

In acknowledging the loss of Maikop, they said that the valuable oil installations of that area which produced seven per cent of Russia's petroleum had been blasted to worthlessness.

The Germans, in a communique reminiscent of one last week which proclaimed that the battle of the Don bend was ended, announced today that the entire bend area guarding the approaches to Stalingrad was in German hands.

But Russian advices were that Marshal Timoshenko had raised a wall of artillery before Stalingrad which permitted advances only at terrible cost to the attacker. Nevertheless, the enemy had wedged himself anew into Stalingrad's far defenses, southeast of Letskaya, according to the Russians' midnight communique.

The Germans' communique said they still were fighting defensively northwest and southwest of Moscow as well as on the northern front. Russian attacks were reported repelled.

The United States and Britain still were whetting the aerial weapon which is expected to cut the way in the diversion of Ger-

Reveal Churchill, Stalin Reach Accord In Moscow

MOSCOW —(AP)— Prime Minister Churchill was in Moscow from Aug. 12 to 15 and with Premier Joseph Stalin reached a number of decisions on the conduct of the war, reaffirming the alliance of their nations against the Axis, it was announced today.

W. Averell Harriman attended the conferences as President Roosevelt's personal representative.

A communique issued after Churchill had left the Soviet union said unspecified decision had been reached. The four days of dramatic negotiations, from Wednesday until Saturday, brought the two war leaders, Churchill and Stalin, together for the first time.

NEAR: U. S. Raids Over Europe Seen; Doolittle Visits London

(By International News Service)

LONDON—A wave of speculation regarding the likelihood of immediate major American participation in large-scale air raids on Germany swept Europe today with disclosure that Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle now is in London.

The speculation embraced the whole of the continent—including Berlin—according to information in London, mainly because of the fact that it was "Jimmy" Doolittle who led a squadron of American B-25 two-motored bombers in a historic and devastating raid on Tokyo.

Gen. Doolittle himself was averse to any speculation regarding his visit beyond the fact he is here on "military duty."

It was revealed authoritatively that he came to London ten days ago and plans to return to the United States shortly.

The British press and public, keenly interested in rapid development of the American air force in Europe, linked Doolittle's visit with the statement issued by Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the United States army air forces, which detailed the magnificent performances of American planes of all categories against numerical superiority in every theater of war.

On every side was heard expressed conviction that the time

BLOCKED: Traffic Tie-Up Hits Moslem Compromise Warning

(By International News Service)

BOMBAY—A scheduled Moslem resolution warning Britain not to temporize or compromise with Mohandas K. Gandhi's Congress party appeared blocked today when traffic delays prevented a quorum attendance of the All-India Moslem league committee

The committee, summoned by Mohammed Ali Jinnah, league president, was expected to act on a resolution expressing the committee's attitude toward the congress party move designed to force British rule from India immediately.

Jinnah himself had said that should Britain compromise with the Nationalists, led by jailed Gandhi, the Moslems would "resist to the uttermost."

The possibility arose that Jinnah might have to declare that adoption of a formal resolution was impossible, but issue a statement concurred in by members present—a move which inevitably would have a lesser effect on the 90,000,000 Moslems in India than formal action by the entire committee.

Thus the situation in India, seething with riots and disorders since the Congress party's decision to embark on a widespread campaign of civil disobedience, grew still more complicated at a

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

(Note: Steve Hannagan is a great authority on Broadway, and he also dandled me on his knee when I was too young to appreciate it. What better reasons for letting him have the typewriter today?—D. K.)

Steve Hannagan Says—

Not so many years ago, Dorothy, or at least not as girls count birthdays, I was pleading with your father to take from me any part of as much space as I am filling today for you.

He was managing editor of the Indianapolis Times, and I was press agent for the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

So, there's a sentimental twist to all of this as words fly from the typewriter in hunt and peck manner today.

Your old man is quite a guy. Everybody knows it now because he's covered the top stories in every nick of terrain in the United States. But I remember him as a great, helpful guy in Indianapolis in the long ago. That's even more important.

There's no Broadway in Indianapolis. Oh, there's a street called Broadway. But it's a residential street. What I mean is there's no Broadway.

But it was in Indianapolis that I got my first smell of Broadway. It wafted on the Hoosier breeze from a famous quartet of small towners who conquered Broadway. They were Odd McIntyre, Ray Long, Jimmy Quirk—and the only survivor of that backfield of friends, Roy Howard. They visited Indianapolis and that's how I got to New York. One look at that quartet and an hour in its company was the handwriting on the wall for me. I had gone to Indianapolis from the Lafayette (Ind.) Journal.

The New York I knew was the Broadway of the Sunday supplements. When I first saw the street, it was a tumult of all the things I'd read and heard about it. Sin, sex, success. Or at least that's what I saw in it.

Now, after 20 years, it's as commonplace as Main street was in Lafayette. I can say howdy to more friends on Broadway than I can on Main street. And I think that's the answer to every place. You're at home wherever somebody will say hello and play like they mean it. But I'm still a country boy. Broadway still gives me a thrill. The lights still get in my eyes.

Odd McIntyre showed me Broadway. Although they rolled the red carpet out for his entrance, he always saw the street through the eyes of an Ohio visitor.

Ray Long showed me the New York of the writer and artist.

Jimmy Quirk showed me Hollywood.

Roy Howard gave me a job—and good advice. Both were useful.

I dwell on these New Yorkers because it was their New York I learned to know. McIntyre was from Missouri and Ohio; Long, from Lebanon Indiana; Howard from Indianapolis, and Quirk from Boston.

New York is an intimate town. It's only big geographically. There are a lot of people around, but just like in Lafayette the only ones you are interested in are the ones you know.

When you're around a lot, you get around less. You have five or six places to eat, ten or twelve people you really want to see often and you can hide out better than you can in Lafayette.

Damon Runyon knows his New York as well as anybody in the town. He's turned it inside out and up and down. He really knows what makes it tick. In fact, he'd be my nomination for the typical New Yorker—or certainly the kind of New Yorker a visitor would like to be.

Outside of his work, I've observed first his personal interest is groceries. Then clothes. And, after that, conversation with a few cronies. He came from Colorado. He became a pearl in New York's oyster. But he yearns for more time in his Dade county Florida home.

And that's the story of Broadway. You meet it young with the full flush of ambition. You learn it, use it, and leave it.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—It's tough for tourists to get inside a movie lot these days. Tougher than devil grass, the curse of the victory gardener.

I mention devil grass—in polite eastern circles it's called Bermuda—because there's a tenuous connection between this pest and the fact that Dick Broughton, 14, got a look-in.

Coons

You know devil grass. It invades the petunia, the 'mum, the carrot and the lone, lorn melon vine as cussedly as it avoids the bare spot on the lawn where it might do some good. It's the devil — especially on a hot August week-end. That was where Dick came in.

Dick's in our neighborhood, visiting from Columbus, Ohio. Dick's a bright - faced youngster, full of ingratiating grins. He's a he-boy. Played center and half-back on his junior high football team. Crazy over movies, too.

I learned this last about the same time he made it clear that he wasn't afraid of devil grass or hot weather. Besides offering certain monetary inducements. I shamelessly dropped hints that I was acquainted with Shirley Temple, Gene Autry, Jane Withers and sundry other juvenile favorites.

"Gee," grinned Dick, awed. And because it is tough to get inside, I thought maybe you'd like to go along with Dick. He had a wonderful time, I think. We'd no more than hit the lot before we spotted Olivia DeHavilland.

"Oh, boy!" said Dick, wowed. "Wait'll the fellows back home hear about this!"

He was wowed, too, by the lazy parade of extras—Arabs, soldiers, chorines — from the lunchroom. When we went in there, his eyes shone. Gee, there was Ronald Reagan! And Jane Wyman and Jack Carson. Gee! That was Ingrid Bergman.

The stars cleared out, all but Ronald Reagan. Dick inquired tactfully, "Do the stars mind meeting people?"

Ronald and Dick were pleased to meet each other.

We "did" a couple of sets. Dick met Humphrey Bogart ("Gee! he's swell!") and saw him do a love scene with Bergman.

Afterward, I thought of something. "Do you think the boys back home will believe you, Dick?"

"Gee, I don't know," he said, worried.

Well, that's why I'm writing this. The only reason. The fact that devil grass is sprouting again has nothing, nothing to do with it.

U. S. FIGHTERS ASK 18 BILLION LIFE INSURANCE

General Says Men in Service Make Three and One Half Million Applications.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Men in the armed forces have made about 3,500,000 applications for National Service Life insurance with a face value of more than $18,000,000,000 the United Spanish War veterans were told today by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs.

"That is a gigantic sum, of which we may well be proud," he said in an address prepared for the veterans' 44th national encampment.

"It shows conclusively that our boys realize the seriousness of this war—and that they are not forgetting the folks back home. It is typical of the American soldier and sailor to think more of their families than of their own pocket money—and I honor them for it."

He emphasized that the number of applications for the government-provided insurance does not represent "the number of service men involved," because "it has been made optional with the individual," who could refrain from applying, or take out any amount from $1,000 to $10,000, or take out a second or third policy so long as the total did not exceed $10,000.

"Only a few hundred thousand men applied for insurance before the infamous Japanese attack," said General Hines, but since Pearl Harbor many new applications and many applications for additional coverage have been received.

Payments on "policies which have been matured by death in the service" so far "have been considerable," he related. "A good many of these awards resulted from the automatic insurance which congress provided retroactively after Pearl Harbor, for the protection of dependents of men who lost their lives before the declaration of war, but who failed to purchase insurance policies up to $5,000."

PASTOR DIES

Galion Native, Once Sued For Breach of Promise, Dead.

STEUBENVILLE — (AP) — A cerebral hemorrhage was fatal today to Rev. Harold C. Zeis, 43, who four years ago was ordered to pay a New York City divorcee $10,000 for breach of promise.

Rev. Zeis served at Grace Episcopal church in Sandusky and at St. Luke's church in Cleveland before becoming rector of St. Paul's church here. He was on leave from an Episcopal church in Paris, France, at the time of his death. Since leaving Europe, he has served as vice president and sales manager of the Ohio Foundry here.

Testifying in Coral Lillian Burnham's $100,000 breach of promise suit, the stocky rector conceded "there is no question in the world I was in love with her. I always loved her." Miss Burnham testified Rev. Zeis told her in December, 1935, that he wanted to "be free" and "hob nob with success," and that two months later he married the former Mrs. A. B. Sharpe, wealthy widow of an Ohio valley steel manufacturer. The jury of 12 middle-aged men, most of them farmers, awarded Miss Burnham $10,000.

Rev. Zeis was a native of Galion, O., and a graduate of Kenyon college. He is survived by his widow.

PROBE MYSTERY OF BLIMP CRASH

Naval Authorities Seek Men Missing Since Riderless Craft Fell in Street.

SAN FRANCISCO—Naval authorities sought today to unravel the mystery of a riderless blimp while crews searched ashore and at sea for two men known to have been aboard.

The observation blimp crashed yesterday on a street in suburban Daly City after scraping housetops and losing one of its two high-explosive depth charges.

The two crewmen left their parachutes neatly racked in the blimp's gondola. Their life raft still was in place. It was assumed both men were wearing the "Mae West" life jackets which would keep them afloat if they were in the ocean.

A spokesman said the navy was completely without clues as to what had happened. The blimp was engaged in a routine offshore patrol. It carried radio but no messages were received to indicate that the craft was in dificulty.

The blimp slithered across a housetop, tangled electric wires and caused a great flash as they were short-circuited, then collapsed in the street. The gondola came to rest at a steep angle with the engines smashed against the street.

Gasoline had spurted over the sides of the craft but there was no fire.

One depth charge, still in its rack, was removed and placed under careful guard to prevent accidental explosion.

BOOTS, BOOTS!

Tacoma Shoe Clerk Has To Go Long Way 'Round To Join.

BELLINGHAM, Wash. — (AP) — Stanley Norman, shoe clerk, was employed in a store only a block from the army's induction center in Tacoma when he was ordered to report for duty.

Army regulations, however, prevented him from walking over to the center to take his examination. Instead he had to go to his former home in Bellingham and then return to Tacoma with two other selectees; traveling approximately 250 miles instead of one block.

15,000 TAKE PART IN LEGION 'VICTORY PARADE' AT CANTON

(By Associated Press)

CANTON—Ohio Legionnaires—veterans of another conflict—today started considering their role in this global war after a "victory parade" that emphasized the civilian defense program.

The parade, highlighting the opening program of the Ohio Legion's 24th annual convention, attracted an estimated 85,000 spectators.

First wartime parade the veterans have planned, it had all the color and fanfare of other years and a new marching unit — the Canton civilian defense council.

Fifty bands and 15,000 persons, including Gov. John W. Bricker and John McSweeney, Democratic nominee for governor, participated. Bricker marched at the head of the line and McSweeney, a captain in the World war, marched with his Wooster Legion post. The rival candidates later shook hands and exchanged greetings.

Citing the Legion's sponsorship of the first state-wide scrap metal collection and its civilian defense work, Department Commander Floyd Hartpence of Westerville told delegates the organization has made important contributions to the war effort.

O. R. Shryock of Akron was chosen the next chef de gare of the Ohio department, 40 et 8 society, which is meeting simultaneously.

Other officers included: Clyde Irwin, Warren, chef de train north; Fred W. Schmidt, Cincinnati, chef de train south; Edward S. Brick, Portsmouth, grand commissar entendant; Herbert Wilson, Washington Court House, conducteur; A. O. Garrison, Van Wert, grand commis voyageur, and Glenn E. Allen, Marion, grand correspondent.

The 8 et 40, women's auxiliary of the 40 et 8, named Mrs. Helen Busser of Cleveland its head.

ILL 6 MONTHS

H. D. Longsdorf, 80, Veteran Printer, Taken By Death.

Hailman Dewitt Longsdorf, 80, veteran Mansfield printer, died this morning at General hospital after six months illness.

Born in Cardington, Jan. 24, 1862, Mr. Longsdorf came to Mansfield in early boyhood and learned the printer's trade with the old Shield and Banner. He was afterward employed on the Mansfield News for many years. He was a son of Augustus and Elizabeth Wren Longsdorf and was the last of his family.

On May 8, 1884 he was united in marriage with Miss Mary Riemar and their golden wedding anniversary was observed in 1934. Mrs. Longsdorf died about five years ago.

Mr. Longsdorf is survived by eight children, four daughters and four sons. The daughters are: Miss Mae Longsdorf, Mrs. Vernon Castor, Mrs. Helen Graves and Mrs. Lester Rain, all of Mansfield. The sons are: Charles of Ashland, and Edward, Harry and Robert, of Mansfield.

Services will be at the Wappner funeral home, Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. conducted by Rev. Grover Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church. Burial in Mansfield cemetery.

The ritualistic service of Mansfield Typographical Union, No. 420, will be held at the funeral home Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

DIES AT HOME

Charles A. Keller, 80, Former Shelby Man, Expires.

Charles Augusta Keller, 80, former resident of Shelby, passed away Saturday evening at a home in Mansfield. He had lived near Shelby for the past 20 years until one year ago when he went to Mansfield to make his home.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ray Arnold living three miles northeast of Shelby, one sister, Mrs. O. L. May of Shelby, and one grandson, Donald Arnold, of near Shelby.

The body was brought to the Barkdull funeral home in Shelby where services were to be held today at 2 p. m., with Rev. John Searle officiating. The body will remain at the funeral home until Tuesday morning and will then be taken to Van Wert for interment.

Dem Party Unity Strengthened By Ferguson Pledge

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The newly-won unity of Ohio's Democratic party was emphasized today by the formal pledge of State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, defeated in last Tuesday's primary for the gubernatorial nomination, of "100 per cent support" to John McSweeney, former Wooster congressman who won the nomination from a field of five.

Addressing the executive committee of the Ohio League of Young Democratic clubs, Ferguson attacked the record of Governor Bricker, the Republican nominee for re-election, and the statement that "Bricker can't be beaten."

"If I catch any Democratic candidate trading votes with any Republican candidate, it will be just too bad for that candidate," Ferguson warned.

President Ralph Graves, Steubenville, appointed a committee to meet with McSweeny Aug. 25 to help map a campaign for the clubs to aid the Democratic slate. The committee included Ruth Pfleger, Toledo; L. A. Lombardi, Akron; George Flanagan, jr., Dayton, and Mary McElroy, Cleveland.

OLDEST RESIDENT DIES

LEBANON — (AP) — Miss Kate Kling, Warren county's oldest resident, died yesterday at the age of 101 at her home south of Waynesville.

Police Identification Officer Ernest C. Fuller is on vacation but Mansfield thieves still had better be careful about leaving fingerprints at the scenes of their crimes. Patrolman Clare Kyler, a graduate of the Institute of Applied Science, is serving as acting identification officer during Fuller's absence. Fuller is also a graduate of the Institute of Applied Science. Patrolman Paul Martin, Fuller's assistant, left two weeks ago for army service.

Pedestrians on South Walnut street were wondering shortly before noon today if they would get to see a traffic ticket hung on a buggy at a parking meter. The driver pulled up to a meter between Park avenue and Second street, hitched his horse to a meter and strolled away without placing a coin in the meter. Pedestrians watched to see what would happen, but at last reports there was no ticket on the horse or buggy. The driver apparently thought meters were made for motor vehicles and buggies are not provided for in the traffic laws.

Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield and his Malabar farm were the subject of an illustrated story in the magazine of Sunday's New York Times which has a circulation of nearly 800,000. The article, headed "Squire Bromfield," told of his writing habits and described the spacious farm where he is working out his ideas on farm marketing and water and soil conservation. One picture showed Bromfield walking up the roadway to Malabar with the house and farm buildings in the background. Another pictured him at work in his study. Written by Dee Bredin, Times feature writer, the article pointed out that two of the three Bromfield daughters, Anne, 18, and Ellen, 10, have inherited their father's literary gifts and are doing some writing themselves.

WIDOW, 75, DIES

Mrs. Lennie Buker, Bellville, Succumbs at Hospital.

BELLVILLE—Mrs. Lennie Buker, 75, the widow of Dr. S. Hilton Buker, died yesterday at General hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Mt. Vernon, she later moved to Killbuck. Since the death of Dr. Buker she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Helen Cooper, for the past five years.

Surviving besides her daughter, are two sons, E. D. Buker of Mansfield and Dr. William Buker of Bellville.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p. m., Tuesday, at the Snyder funeral home in Bellville. Rev. F. A. Spooner of Canton will officiate. Burial will be at Killbuck.

RETURN TO WASHINGTO FOR MEETIN

Lewis on Sidelines as T Groups Schedule Time ar Place For Conference.

(By International News Serv

WASHINGTON — The nati topflight labor leaders began turning to Washington today a meeting to set the time a place for resumption of pe conferences between the AFL the CIO.

For the first time, John Lewis, president of the Uni Mine Workers and founder of CIO, will be on the sidelines in peace talks.

The CIO committee will be co posed of VIO Head Philip Murr Julius Emspak, president of Electrical Radio and Mach Workers union and R. J. Thom chief of the United Automot Workers.

The AFL committee will made up of Harry Bates, preside of the Bricklayers, William (H Bill) Hutcheson, head of the C penters' union, and Dan Tob president of the Teamsters' u ion.

Under pressure from th White House, the job of resun ing labor peace talks was di cussed in Chicago last week b William Green, AFL presiden and Phil Murray. Green was the midwest city to attend meeting of the AFL's executiv council and Murray was ther to address a convention of th Auto Workers.

Bates and Murray are to me sometime tomorrow or Wedne day, it was reported, and arran a date and the place for resum tion of the peace parleys.

Hopes for a quick end to labor civil war are slim. It was pointe out that Murray, as head of th CIO's steel workers organizatir committee, is in the midst of fight before the war labor boa for wage increases for workers big steel plants. That fact may de lay resumption of the parleys.

At the same time, it was sai by informed labor observers Washington that it would tak months to work out an agreemer for labor peace because of the fac that there are so many CIO an AFL unions claiming jurisdictio in the same fields.

Since the CIO was founded there have been four different ser ies of labor peace conferences. Al have failed. Even if there was peace negotiated, there still i some uncertainty over the future of the United Mine Workers head ed by Lewis who has one of the nation's biggest unions.

GERMANS HURL NEW OFFENSIVE ON STALINGRAD

man pressure from Russia, whenever that is to come.

In ostensible association with the preparation of the United States air forces in Britain for full-scale action against the Hitler-ruled continent, Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle, renowned as the bomber of Tokyo, was in London. He has just finished a three-day tour of United States air bases in Britain.

Doolittle's presence in England for some time was disclosed for publication only today. His arrival was a tight secret until he had conferred with Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander in chief of the U. S. air forces in the European theater, and Brig. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, Spaatz' second in command.

The United States army air forces in the Middle East and European theaters were still in the breaking-in stage although bombers in the Mediterranean zone and fighter units in Britain already have gone into action.

United States army air fighters flew with a squadron of Canadians in a sweep of France over the week-end.

A moderate-sized RAF force struck at western Germany Saturday night, losing five bombers, and early today a few German planes struck inland to the northern Midlands of England and also bombed an east coast point.

In Africa, British light bombers cracked at Axis supply lines, scoring direct hits on lighters off the North African coast. The Axis, without confirmation, claimed destruction of 16 British planes in the past 24 hours.

Land action in Africa still was limited to reconnaissance and patrol.

India Quiet, Freedom Issue Stalemated

BOMBAY—(AP)—An appeal to the British to make peace with the All-India Congress party—and a warning against such a step—left the issue over Indian independence apparently as far as ever from a solution today.

Although nine persons were injured by police fire yesterday at Calcutta, India's biggest city, the country generally was peaceful after the week of violence touched off by the Congress' mass civil disobedience movement under Mohandas K. Ghandi and the swift arrest of the leader and his lieutenants.

The spokesman for reconciliation was Sir Tej Bahadar Sapru, one of India's most prominent lawyers who urged at Allahabad that Britain send a parliamentary delegation to India to discuss a settlement.

On the other side was Mohammed Ali Jinnah who threatened that any peace-seeking with the Hindu-dominated congress would be regarded by 80,000,000 Moslems as a sacrifice of their interest.

Destroy Jap War Supplies At Haiphong

CHUNGKING — (Delayed) — (INS)—American army fliers, subjecting the Indo-Chinese port of Haiphong to a savage air attack, "burned up more war material there at one swoop than in any other single action in the war in the Far East," Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault said today.

The veteran Texas flier, who headed the "Flying Tigers" of the AVG before he became a member of the new U. S. army air force in China, described the Haiphong and several other raids by the Americans during the 41 days since the USAAF in China was organized.

(The Japanese-controlled Saigon radio reported today that "Chinese aircraft" had raided Haiphong and Hanoi. If true, this means probably that the Americans have staged a new raid on Haiphong.)

"Following the explosions at Haiphong," Gen. Chennault said, "fire raged for miles along the water front. Sheets of flame shot up almost 1,800 feet.

"A 4,000-ton Japanese ship burst into a mass of flame. This indicates to me that we have the men here who can do the job."

Gen. Chennault surmised that, to beat the Japanese, the Americans need about "one-fourth as much as they (the Japs) have" in equipment.

To meet the new American threat in China, the hard-bitten founder of the famed AVG said, the Japanese brought into China some of their best fighting formations.

"Moreover, the new Japanese formations are showing in their fighting the results of improved technical equipment and more ingenius tactical formations," Chennault said.

Airmen Guard Agains Jap Reinforcements

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia—(AP)—General Douglas MacArthur's airmen maintained ceaseless vigil over the waters northeast of Australia to prevent Japanese reinforcements from reaching the Solomon islands as the battle for control of vital bases there entered its 11th day today.

While United States marines were believed to be extending bridgeheads already won in the Solomons, actual developments were hidden by official silence both here and in Washington.

No reference to the situation was contained in the daily communique from MacArthur's headquarters, which was devoted to a brief report of a new Allied bombing attack on Jap-occupied Timor and to continued patrol skirmishes in the Kokoda area of southeastern New Guinea, 60 miles from Port Moresby.

There was evidence, however, of quiet confidence in Australian circles, whose attitude was reflected by William H. Hughes, a member of the Pacific war council, in a speech at Sydney yesterday in which he acclaimed the Solomon islands offensive as "a revelation of the strength of our ally, America."

"It has been shown," he said, "that man for man the Japanese are not equal to the United States marines."

The Jap radio continued to broadcast sweeping claims of victory in the Solomons, but admitted "the battle is continuing between our forces and American marines who have succeeded in landing."

Report Nazi Troop Train In Collision

LONDON—(AP)—Aneta, Netherlands news agency, quoted a Soviet information bureau report from Moscow today that a heavily-laden German troop train collided with another train at a station near Groningen in the northern Netherlands, causing serious damage and suspending traffic.

Five prominent Netherlanders were executed by a Nazi firing squad Saturday as hostages after saboteurs whom the Germans blamed for a similar troop train wreck Aug. 7 were not captured.

The Germans previously had said the lives of 1,600 hostages would be taken if the saboteurs were not given up by their countrymen, and there was a possibility that other executions might follow the first five.

10 INJURED IN AUTO CRASHES

Eight Killed in Accidents Over State; Father of Boy Driver Fined.

rounding a curve on the left side of the road, state highway patrolmen said. His father, Dewey J. Sharp, was fined $20 and costs when arraigned in municipal court this morning.

Injured in the crash were Mrs. Leona M. Weaver, 38, Martha Jean Weaver, 11, both of Crestline R. D. 2; and the Sharp youth.

Four other persons received minor injuries late Saturday when autos collided on State Route 61, a mile north of Plymouth.

Frank Baker, 48, of Fairfield, driver of one car, and a passenger, Mrs. Charles Robinson of Plymouth, received cuts about the head and face while Mrs. Felta Laser, and daughter, Bebe, both riding with her husband, Norman Laser, 46, Cleveland, suffered cuts and bruises.

Baker told state highway patrolmen the accident occurred when he applied the brakes on his car and skidded into Laser's vehicle.

Richard Schultus, 16, of Mansfield R. D. 3, received a head injury late yesterday when his bicycle struck a utility pole on North Bowman street. Police reported the youth was found laying on a lawn by two other youths, two hours after the accident occurred.

The boy was taken to General hospital in an ambulance. It was feared at first that he had suffered a skull fracture but hospital attendants said today that although his head had been injured that no fracture was sustained.

In another city accident, an automobile driven by John Sunkel, 70 Rowland avenue, crashed into a parked car owned by John Schadek, 188 Auburn avenue, near the intersection of Fifth and Mulberry streets yesterday. Sunkel was arrested on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Clarence V. Palmer, 95 Wolfe avenue, and Leo G. Palmer, 1,000 Lexington avenue, both received lacerations about the knees and legs yesterday when their station wagon was struck by an automobile on the Bellville-Johnsville road.

George Streby of Bellville, driver of the other car told officers from the office of Sheriff Frank Robinson that his auto skidded on the wet pavement and swerved into the path of the Palmers' vehicle. Clarence Palmer was treated at General hospital.

Of the eight killed in Ohio, four men, one of whom was to have been inducted into the army this week, died in a head-on automobile collision six miles west of Xenia.

Those who perished in the Xenia crash were Jerome A. Tegenkamp, 20, of Dayton; James Gress, 21, of Dayton, who was to have been inducted into the army this week; Richard J. Krein, 23, of Dayton; and Gene Andrews, 18, of Cedarville.

L. V. Carson, 56, of Wooster, was struck and killed by a hit-and-run driver on Route 30 near his home. Elmer H. Schmedes, 51-year-old Cincinanti carpenter, was killed when he was hit by a truck at the entrance to the Wright airplane engine plant at Lockland.

Josephine Bazzoli, 17, of Dover, died of injuries received when her bicycle collided with a taxicab.

Dr. William R. Riddell, 48, of Jackson, was killed when his automobile struck a bridge abutment as he was returning home from a golf game.

GIANT NAVAL BATTLES RAGE OFF SOLOMONS

Compared To Coral Sea and Midway Fights; Marines Consolidate Posts.

control the sea lanes leading northeast from Australia.

The Japanese command has had the advantage of operating on an interior line of communictions from the north which gave them a marked initial advantage. This was believed to account for the delay the American forces have encountered in narrowing the extended Japanese tenacle into the Solomons.

An additional Japanese advantage was the fact that the Japanese are not being pressed on any other front and thus are able to concentrate their forces to parry the Solomon islands attack.

The Japanese, it was reported, have thrown in naval forces against the American marines and were said to be showing determination in contesting every foot of ground in the islands.

It was believed that the marines had a firm hold on the Tulagi area in the southern Solomons, including Tulagi, the swampy shore of Florida, the atolls of Gavutu and Makambo off the Florida shore, probably the Kukum air base on Guadalcanal island and possibly a beachhead on Malaiti island east of Florida.

There were indications that the navy, supporting the marines, was now able to base seaplanes if not land planes in the Tulagi area.

But there were indications also that the Japanese in a desperate attempt to draw attention from the successful marine landing in the Solomons, and if possible to divert strength from that area, might be girding for a drive on Port Moresby, the Allied base on the south coast of New Guinea, and that they might even try a land attack on Darwin, the chief Allied base in northern Australia.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's southwest Pacific communique indicated that the Allied forces in the New Guinea interior had again been driven back from the Kokoda flying field, 55 miles from Port Moresby, and were holding the 8,000 foot pass in the Owen Stanley mountains against an expected Japanese assault.

Persistent Allied attack on Dutch-Portuguese Timor indicated that MacArthur suspected that the Japanese were concentrating forces there for a possible diversional attack on northern Australia which would change the entire strategic picture in the southwest Pacific.

MacArthur's medium bombing planes made their fifth big raid in seven days yesterday on the Timor area, attacking an enemy occupied town on the southeast coast and putting all their bombs in the target area. A big fire was started before the Allied planes returned, under heavy anti-aircraft fire, without loss.

It was reported that Allied troops, including sturdy Dutchmen, Netherlands Indies natives and Australians, were still offering organized resistance to the Japanese in Timor.

Japs Admit Marine Landings In Solomons

LONDON—Japan admitted directly today that United States marines had effected landings at an unspecified number of points in the Solomon islands.

Japanese propagandists diagreed, however, on the significance of the first American offensive in the southwest Pacific.

While a government propaganda spokesman belittled it, the leading Tokyo newspaper Asahi said the Solomons attack was but the opening of a big United States offensive plan against Japan proper and said that for weeks United States planes, pilots, mechanics and ground crews had been arriving at bases in China.

Tomakazu Hori, official spokesman, said the marines landed "only to give some useable news material to the United States naval spokesman (who has said almost nothing since the battle started) and the broadcasting stations."

"Regarding the small landings left in the Solomon islands," Hori said, "the American soldiers left in the Solomons may not know the fact that most of the Allied war vessels as well as the transports are now lying at the bottom of the sea and that the remnants, if any, have already fled away, forgetting their landing forces.

"The Allied landing forces are absolutely isolated. Poor American boys!—hastily recruited and sent out thousands of miles from their homes and families, they are awaiting certain death, which will not be long in coming."

However, Asahi said, as quoted in a Tokyo dispatch of the Swedish Telegraphic bureau.

"The United States attack on the Solomons is the beginning of an offensive plan against Japan, envisaging attacks on Japan proper from four directions, the Aleutians, Australia, the open sea by means of carrier-based planes and China.

"At present only the China attack is feasible. A steady stream of United States planes, pilots, mechanics and ground crews have been arriving at Chinese bases in the last few weeks.

Reports 'Greatest Victory' In Solomons

LONDON—(UP)—The Evening Star, in a dispatch from Sydney today, said that "it seems clear that the Allies already have won in their land, sea and air operations in the Solomons, the greatest victory yet achieved against the Japanese."

The victory is evident, the dispatch said, despite the cautious tone of the official American communiques.

"It must be realized that the United States' hold on this area cannot be secure until the Allied naval units inflict a crushing defeat on the main Japanese fleet or until it is possible to develop the newly-won Solomons air bases to a stage where it will permit land-based aircraft there to beat off sea attacks," said the Star's correspondent.

"There is no evidence that the Japs have sent out their main fleet for a decisive struggle.

"Two main engagements are believed to have been fought out already and more may come.

"This series of battles in the Coral sea with intermittent rainstorms obscuring the view has been the greatest naval clash of this war, but apparently because aircraft has altered the whole character of naval fighting there will be no Jutland."

David Lantz, county probation officer, said Martin had failed to pay back his share of the money taken from the robbery victim and had been staying out late at night contrary to his probation regulations.

Judge Huston asked the youth today why he hadn't enlisted in the navy before.

"I didn't know they accepted colored boys until just recently," Martin replied.

The court then sent him to the recruiting station with Lantz. Martin was examined and returned to the county jail to await a report on the examination. Judge Huston said his probation would be revoked if the navy accepts him.

time when disturbances were becoming fewer.

Firmness of the government's grip on the decision was tightened with application in all of Bombay province of an ordinance permitting whipping and even execution for sabotage.

This same ordinance is applicable in all the main trouble districts of India.

There was a possibility, too that an entire locality could be fined and penalized for any subversive act, unless the culprits are caught by police or turned in by their neighbors.

In his blast at Gandhi and his followers, Jinnah termed the Nationalists' civil disobedience campaign "political blackmail."

Should Britain agree to the Congress party's terms, said Jinnah, "I personally would marshal and unleash the Moslem might if it meant imprisonment or death for me."

Some moderate Indian leaders had sought to bring Hindus and Moslems together in a united front against the Japanese threat, but Jinnah's stand left little hope for success of such a plan.

The wave of violence which broke out after Gandhi's arrest had subsided today.

MESSAGES END SOLDIER QUEST

Missing Private Found In Hospital As Wife He Went To Visit Dies.

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — The missing persons bureau closed its files today on the case of Private Howard Jones, Jr., of Cleveland.

Jones disappeared after leaving Los Angeles to visit his wife and new-born baby in Cleveland, where he was due to arrive on Aug. 12. When he didn't appear Cleveland asked Chicago police to make a search for him, as Jones had planned to transfer trains here. Two messages to the bureau ended the investigation.

One said that Jones was in a military hospital at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., the other revealed that his wife had died.

Determining to proceed with the improvement of Glessner Avenue between Sturges Avenue and Marion Avenue with one and one-half inch black top composition and appropriating forty-six hundred dollars ($4,600.00) as stated.

Be it Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio:

Section 1: That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of Glessner Avenue between Sturges Avenue and Marion Avenue by resurfacing with one and one-half inch black top composition in accordance with resolution number 42-160 passed July 7, 1942, and in accordance with plans, specifications and estimates heretofore approved and now on file in the office of the Engineer.

Section 2: That of the total estimated cost of said improvement to the City of Mansfield, being in amount seven thousand dollars ($7,000.00), the sum of twenty-four hundred dollars ($2,400.00) shall be assessed by the benefit plan upon lots and lands abutting the proposed improvement, which lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefited by said improvement. The said total cost of said improvement to the City shall include the expense of the preliminary and other services and of printing and publishing the notices, resolutions and ordinances required and the serving of said notices and the costs of construction together with interest on notes and bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

Section 3: That the assessments to be levied shall be paid in five annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection thereof; provided that the owners of the property assessed may come at his option and pay such assessment in cash within 30 days after the passing of the assessing ordinance.

Section 4: That the bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto, and notes of said City shall be issued in anticipation of the levying of such assessments and the issue of such bonds.

Section 5: That to pay the City's share of the cost of said improvement there be and is hereby appropriated from the following funds the following amounts:

3-6 Gas Tax Fund $4,600.00

Section 6: That the Director of Public Service be and he hereby is authorized and directed as soon as the funds therefore are available to make and execute a contract for said improvement with the lowest and best bidder after advertisement.

Section 7: This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowable by law.

Passed Aug. 4, 1942.

EX-SENATOR DIES

PARIS, Ky. — (AP) — Johnson Newlon Camden, 77, former U. S. senator from Kentucky and for many years a leader in thoroughbred racing, agriculture, mining and political affairs in the state, died here last night.

ORDINANCE NO. 42-198

By Mr. Kyle:

An ordinance providing for the issuing of bonds in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvements herein named, and combining and consolidating in a single issue bonds previously authorized for the property share of said improvements.

Whereas, this Council has requested the City Auditor to issue his certificate as to the estimated life of the improvements constructed from the proceeds of the bonds hereinafter referred to, and as to the maximum maturity of such bonds, the City Auditor has certified to this Council such estimated life as exceeding five (5) years, and has further certified the maximum maturity of such bonds as ten (10) years for paving, and twenty-five (25) years for sewers.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MANSFIELD, STATE OF OHIO:

Section 1: That it is deemed necessary to issue and there shall be issued the bonds of the City of Mansfield in the sum of $52,000.00 to pay notes previously issued and about to mature for the purpose of raising money in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of the following named various streets or said city, and including an amount sufficient to pay the interest thereon until said assessments are available, the property share of the cost of said street improvement being hereby combined and consolidated into a single issue of bonds covering the following previously authorized improvements, to wit:

(a) Bowman St., Paving, as authorized in Ordinance No. 42-66, passed April 7, 1942.

(b) Daisy St., Curbs and Gutters, as authorized in Ordinance 41-182, passed September 2, 1941.

(c) Fifth Ave., Sanitary Sewer, as authorized in Ordinance 41-141, passed July 14, 1941.

(d) Lawnsdale Ave., Sanitary Sewer, as authorized in Ordinance 40-198, passed November 5, 1940.

(e) Linden Road-Maple St., Sanitary Sewer, as authorized in Ordinance 41-40, passed March 4, 1941.

(f) Linden Road-Paxford Pl., Sanitary Sewer, as authorized in Ordinance 41-39, passed March 4, 1941.

(g) Marlow Road, Grading etc., as authorized in Ordinance 40-199, passed November 5, 1940.

(h) Newman St., Paving, as authorized in Ordinance 41-172, passed August 18, 1941.

(i) Oakwood Drive, Sanitary Sewer, as authorized in Ordinance 41-181, passed September 2, 1941.

(j) Poplar St.—Sloane Ave., Sanitary Sewer, as authorized in Ordinance 41-140, passed July 14, 1941.

(k) Rhein St., Paving as authorized in Ordinance 41-55, passed April 1, 1941.

(l) Sturges Ave., Paving, as authorized in Ordinance 41-54, passed April 1, 1941.

(m) Walter Ave., Paving, as authorized in Ordinance 40-163, passed September 10, 1940.

(n) Wood St., Paving, as authorized in Ordinance 41-146, passed July 14, 1941.

Section 2: Said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and City Auditor, shall be dated not later than September 1, 1942, and shall be numbered from one (1) to fifty-two (52), inclusive and be due and payable as follows:

Date of Maturity	Number	Amount
Apr. 1, 1943	1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6	$6,000
Oct. 1, 1943	7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12	6,000
Apr. 1, 1944	13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18	6,000
Oct. 1, 1944	19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24	6,000
Apr. 1, 1945	25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30	6,000
Oct. 1, 1945	31, 32, 33, 34, 35	5,000
Apr. 1, 1946	36, 37, 38, 39, 40	5,000
Oct. 1, 1946	41, 42, 43, 44	4,000
Apr. 1, 1947	45, 46, 47, 48	4,000
Oct. 1, 1947	49, 50, 51, 52	4,000

Each of said bonds to be of the denomination of $1000.00.

Said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of 6% per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of April and October of each year, and for which proper interest coupons bearing a facsimile of the signature of the Auditor shall be attached to and made a part of said bonds, provided however, that if said bonds are sold bearing a different rate of interest than hereinbefore specified, such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided for in the resolution of Council approving the award thereof. The first interest date shall be April 1, 1943. Principal and interest shall be payable at the office of the Treasurer of said City.

It is hereby stated and recited that the final tax settlement between the County Treasurer and the City of Mansfield next following the inclusion of a tax for the issue of the bonds herein provided for in the annual budget as provided by law, will take place in August, 1943.

Section 3: For the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds promptly when and as the same falls due, and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all taxable property in the city of Mansfield in addition to all other taxes a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run, in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay the interest upon said bonds as and when the same shall fall due, and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of said serial bonds at maturity, which tax shall not be less than the interest and the sinking fund tax required by Section 11, Article 12 of the constitution. Provided, however, that in each year that the assessments anticipated by said bonds are payable and are applicable to the payment of such interest and principal and are appropriated for such purpose the amount of such tax shall be reduced by the amount of the assessments so appropriated.

Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner at the same time that taxes for given purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required, shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which together with the interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of principal and interest of said bonds when and as the same falls due.

Section 4: The City Auditor is hereby authorized and directed to certify a copy of this ordinance to the Auditor of Richland County, Ohio, according to law.

Section 5: That all installments of said assessments and all portions thereof, together with interest thereon, shall be applied to the payment of said bonds and interest as the same shall become due and to no other purpose whatsoever.

Section 6: The Committee of Finance of this Council and the City Auditor are hereby directed to have said bonds and coupons properly prepared and executed, to sell the same and to deposit the proceeds in the City Treasury to the credit of the following funds and in the amounts herein stated:

(a) Bowman Street, Paving ..	$1700.00
(b) Daisy Street, Curbs & Gutters	900.00
(c) Fifth Avenue, Sanitary Sewer	1200.00
(d) Lawnsdale Avenue, Sanitary Sewer	600.00
(e) Linden Road-Maple Street, Sanitary Sewer	950.00
(f) Linden Road-Paxford Place, Sanitary Sewer...	2000.00
(g) Marlow Road, Grading etc.	1300.00
(h) Newman Street, Paving.	4000.00
(i) Oakwood Drive, Sanitary Sewer	850.00
(j) Poplar Street-Sloane Avenue, Sanitary Sewer ...	2750.00
(k) Rhein Street, Paving...	8900.00
(l) Sturges Avenue, Paving..	5900.00
(m) Walter Avenue, Paving.	8500.00
(n) Wood Street, Paving ...	12450.00
	$52000.00

For the purpose of paying the portion of the cost of said improvements not heretofore provided to be paid by said city and for which purpose said money is hereby appropriated.

Section 7: That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed Aug. 4, 1942.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, AUGUST 17, 1942.

The synthetic rubber muddle has not yet reached the "Eureka" stage.

It is also being noted, in the rush of things, that the old-time "seven-day wonder" seldom lasts through the night.

Unheard remark: "No, I can't sell you a 'numbers' ticket; it's against the law, and besides, you need the money to buy food."

America Reaches Active Stage In War

AMERICA'S participation in the war seems to be passing from the preparatory stage into one of effective and increasing action.

The Allied assault on the Solomon islands, in the southwest Pacific, mainly an American undertaking, is regarded as the start of large-scale operations destined within a few months to cover the world. Already Uncle Sam has sent troops and materials to nearly all strategic areas, for his own use as well as help to the neighbors. Prime Minister John Curtin, after long clamoring for troops, guns and action in the Australian sphere, now seems satisfied, or rather, temporarily appeased.

"We cannot expect to be placed in a special sanctuary," he says, "while those associated with us are having their territories ravaged. We have not enough planes, tanks or ships. Neither has China, the Middle East or any of our Allies. There is no surplus of anything, and inadequacies exist everywhere." Yet he refrains from demanding more planes and other requirements at the expense of Russia, China and the Middle East. "The more planes you have in one place," he says, "the less you have in another."

This is the right spirit for the Allies. They must "make do" with what they have, while armament increases until there is enough for all. It is each for all and all for each, and they dare not wait longer while barbarians grab the world.

No More Tires for Speeders

THE EXTENT to which Ohio motorists can be trusted to exercise self control is being put to test in connection with action by the federal and state government urging voluntary adoption of a 40-mile speed limit by individual drivers.

Only in cases in which drivers would otherwise be entitled to buy new tires, or have old ones recapped, can a penalty be imposed for exceeding the 40-mile speed—as Ohio law permits a 50-mile maximum.

But this is to be strictly enforced, according to an order issued by Governor Bricker, with full co-operation of the state highway patrol and local authorities.

Purpose of this action is to conserve rubber, as speeds in excess of 40 miles an hour are known to wear out tires much more quickly than on cars driven at lower speed.

Other drivers, those not entitled to tire replacements, might be expected to be even more careful in conserving their tires, but this has not been evidenced by any material lowering of speed on highways in and around Mansfield, and a Reader's Forum letter on this page indicates that similar conditions exist elsewhere.

An effort is being made to avoid extension of gasoline rationing, largely designed as a rubber conservation move, and the attitude of Ohio motorists toward voluntary observance of the 40-mile speed limit may become a decisive factor in this matter, as there is no actual shortage of gasoline in this area.

Fine Record of Progress

TWENTY-FIVE years is a brief period of time as history goes—but in that time, the American people have shown a remarkable growth in their physical stature. The army is authority for that statement. The average height and weight of the men in our present army is substantially greater than the average in our World war I army.

That has been the result of a number of factors, one of the most important of which has been advances made in American medical and health practices. In the years between 1917 and 1942, medical progress made in this country was extraordinary. New and successful cures were found for serious diseases. Advanced methods of caring for mothers and children were developed. Great strides were taken in the science of nutrition. A definite betterment in the physical well-being of people was the consequence.

It is generally believed that the American army is physically unsurpassed—as the magnificent performance of individual soldiers in combat proves.

Youthful Liquor Purchasers

FREQUENCY of complaints that many children considerably under the required age of 21 patronize night clubs, and are served with liquor, in Mansfield and other Ohio cities and rural sections, localizes interest in the fact that proprietors of Michigan inns and night clubs have asked state authorities to co-operate with them in enforcing the law which prohibits sale of intoxicating beverages to minors.

The Michigan liquor control commission is encouraging cities and villages to pass ordinances requiring young men and women to register for liquor permits and to carry photographed identification cards showing date of birth, to be shown to the waiter or bartender on request.

In Ohio the state law is clear on the subject of selling liquor to minors, but in the absence of enforcement effort the law is as ineffective as Mansfield's ordinance fixing midnight as the closing time for night clubs.

U. S. and Canadian Commandos

THE MOST definite step yet in the merging of United States and Canadian troops appears in the commando force being organized under the command of Col. Robert T. Frederick of the United States Army, with Lieut.-Col. J. G. McQueen of Calgary second in command. There will be, when the men have been picked and toughened, a dare-devil outfit prepared for mountain and desert fighting, marine landings, and forays of any kind that ingenious patriots can devise to use against the enemy.

The Japs will get acquainted with them in due time. One job, doubtless to their taste, might be the expulsion or extinction of the intruders at the tip of the Aleutian island chain. That would smooth the way to Japan.

A poets' union designed to bar amateur competition might be an even happier idea.

DEFINITION OF COMPLACENCY—IF ANY

India Remains Baffling Problem

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—India is more of a mystery to official Washington than China or Japan. We're very well acquainted and friendly with quite a number of prominent Chinese and at least we think we understand their people's temperament and mentality more or less.

We like them, too, as of the present writing.

The Japanese we have ceased to like, if ever we did have any liking for them. They are rated as treacherous double-crossers. On them we have our fingers crossed but they do not puzzle us, not a bit!

About all we surmise concerning India, however, is what Rudyard Kipling reported to us more than a generation ago and his stuff was not official.

Consequently the Mohandas K. Gandhi affair has the U. S. capital guessing.

It is anti-Gandhi, of course, but it's uncertain whether Mohandas is his first name or a mistake for "mahatma." Most of us have no notion what "K" stands for. We're unreliable on the spelling of "Gandhi" — often we spell it "Ghandi."

The essential question is:

"How much can Gandhi get away with?"

Gandhi a Pacifist.

He is a pacifist of the most pronounced type; that has been widely advertised. Yet he has announced that India will be "all out" for the United Nations if the British grant it immediate independence. Apparently John Bull is slightly doubtful about it, for, while he promises post-war independence, he balks on it at present.

Maybe one reason for this reluctance is a British apprehension that independence would split India wide open.

Gandhi calls his outfit the All-India Congress.

It is a bunch that he controls completely, but how "all" is it, relative to total India?

Perhaps it is in a majority, but India has quite a mixed population.

Theoretically Gandhi's crowd are unmitigated pacifists. Yet there are a lot of other aggregations that are as scrappy as can be. England has had trouble with them in past uprisings and knows the story fully, historically.

Likewise there is the Indian Moslem League, running up into the 80 millions—solidly anti-Axis.

And, finally, Gandhi belatedly annouced that his own crowd will fight like fury for the democracies if Britain will accord independence to it with no further argument.

It was a funny pledge—to say the least—from such an anti-war apostle.

The truth is that pacifists are meaner fighters than anybody else, when once they take the warpath.

"Second Messiah."

A few years ago I heard Gandhi mentioned, by as consequential individuals as congressmen (I could name some of them) as a possibility as a "second Messiah." But all that is now in the past.

The trouble with the old fellow is that he has graduated out of spirituality into politics.

Washington is adequately posted on politics but it is stumped by India's quality of them. Parliament Hill in London may have an inkling of them, but not Capital Hill. It is a new kind of politics for this country.

The point is that about half of India is pro-United Nations. About half of the remainder is pacifistic. And approximately half of what's left is all split up.

And, as to Gandhi, he tells his story three or four ways.

Washington can't figure which is which. It doesn't know about the peculiarities of India.

Health and Diet

How Weather Changes Affect Health.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

PHYSICIANS of ancient days of Greece and Egypt and Rome paid great attention to the effect of weather and climate on human life and health. Hippocrates, the father of medicine, left a work on "Air, Waters and Places."

All this lore was neglected by the modern physician after he became intellectually proud with his knowledge of bacteriology and body chemistry. It bids fair to have a renaissance with the patient observations and writings of two outstanding American scholars, Dr. William F. Petersen, of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, and Dr. Clarence A. Mills, Professor of Experimental Medicine at the University of Cincinnati.

Of Interest In America.

North America should be particularly interested in weather. Except for the great Asiatic land mass, America has more weather than any place else on earth. Not only is the annual variation in temperature over most of its surface between 20 degrees below zero on some winter days to 110 or more degrees above zero during some summer days, but the number of storms and storm tracks brought about at the interfaces of polar air masses and tropical air masses make sudden change in temperature, humidity and barometric pressure frequent experiences.

Weather changes create so many effects on human bodily status that they are hard to classify. Hot weather reduces blood pressure and cold spells raise it. Dr. Petersen, in a recent article, tells an interesting story of a young woman with a very changeable or labile vasomotor system who regularly had fainting attacks in the wake of cold storms.

The fainting did not occur with the cold period, but afterwards when the warm or hot reaction came on; then her blood pressure became so low that any unusual exertion would bring on a fainting spell. In an equable climate she would have become comfortable, but even in her normal environment the administration of ephedrine, which raised blood pressure, controlled the attacks.

The formula for the general body reaction to sudden cold is "A. R. S." (anoxia, reduction, sugar increase). Cold closes the superficial blood vessels, raising blood pressure and it rearranges the endocrine secretions, causing a feeling of stimulation and actually affecting sugar metabolism.

Reaction to Heat.

The reaction to heat is "C.O.V." (catabolism, oxidation, vasodilatation). The superficial blood vessels dilate, the blood increases in acidity, the basal metabolism is increased, the potassium-calcium ratio is diminished, dehydration occurs with a consequent feeling of let-downness and fatigue.

These are the temporary reactions to sharp changes. After a hot or cold spell is established, the body adjusts itself and discomfort disappears.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, August 17, 1922.

Fine new home of Attorney William H. Gifford in Ausdale was nearing completion.

Miss Emma Patterson, of Lisbon, was chosen as physical director of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Sharlot M. Hostetter and Charles C. Mink were married by Rev. Charles F. Sheriff.

Word was received that E. S. Nail and son Charles had sailed for home after spending two months in Europe.

Karl P. Troll moved from 118 South Diamond street to 104 Helen avenue.

Mrs. Alexander Fraser returned home from a visit with her son Herbert and family in Andover, Mass.

Dr. G. W. Kenson, B. J. Balliett, D. C. Elkins and Jay Dirlam represented the Mansfield Rotary club at a golf match in Marion.

Birth report: Son to Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Meese, Euclid avenue.

TODAY IN HISTORY

David Crockett, American frontiersman, son of an Irish immigrant, was born this date, 1786, in Greene county, Tenn. Crockett survived the Battle of the Alamo only to be massacred by the victorious Santa Anna. Attributed to Crockett is the admirable statement, "Be sure you are right—then go ahead," uttered while serving with Jackson against the hostile Creek Indians in the War of 1812.

High Speed Continues.

Editor News-Journal:

In your editorial in last Tuesday's News-Journal that arrived up here yesterday, entitled "Merrily They Speed Along."

I was determined to drive from 40 to 50 miles an hour coming up here, and did, although it took from two to three hours longer to get here, which is 500 miles from Mansfield.

During trip I believe several hundred cars passed us, from broken down jalopies to heavily loaded trailer trucks, and many passenger buses, so fast we felt we were standing still—or backing up—at times.

In five minutes time they would be out of sight, so you can imagine how close to 40, or even 50, miles an hour they were traveling.

We found about half the gas stations closed and huge piles of old rubber piled up at quite a number of them. We also saw tons and tons of old scrap metal in auto dumps and on farms—so why the cry of scarcity of metal for our steel mills?

Business at tourist resorts is half, or less, than last year, and most of what there is are older people here for hay fever.

Malta's Strategic Value Explains Britain's Struggle to Hold Island

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

ONCE MORE the British have run the gantlet of Axis warplanes and naval ships in the Mediterranean to deliver a big convoy of reinforcements and airplanes to the island of Malta, and the cost of this great engagement has been heavy for both sides.

Why should it be necessary for Britain thus to risk fighting equipment more precious than rubies to serve an island which covers only 95 square miles and sits in the midst of an enemy-built hell?

The answer is that Malta is one of the most important strategic points in the world. This island is the British air-force observation post of the Mediterranean.

Malta no longer can be used as a naval base, excepting for submarine, because Hitler maintains a powerful force of warplanes in Mussolini's Sicily, only 56 miles north of the British island.

However, the Nazi chief hasn't been able to drive the Royal Air Force out of this stronghold.

British air-scouts are constantly on the move over the Mediterranean from Malta. Their chief business is to spot enemy supply ships and transport headed from Axis ports in Europe to Africa.

This work is essential right now, because reinforcements and supplies must be kept from Nazi Field Marshal Rommel's desert forces at all hazards. His dangerous offensive against Egypt has been held up for lack of resources, and the British are praying that their opposing army under General Auchinleck can be reinforced so as to strike at Rommel before aid reaches him.

Kaiser Gets 'No Strike' Provision

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Neither Franklin D. Roosevelt, in this war, nor Woodrow Wilson in the last, was able to get union labor to agree that there should be no strikes in war industries for the duration. But Henry J. Kaiser has done it, and done it despite the fact that he operates closed shops exclusively in all his far-flung wonder-working war enterprises, whether they be ship yards, magnesium plants, or whatnot.

Not only does a worker for Henry Kaiser HAVE to join the union, but all hiring is done through the union halls. In other words he gives the union leaders everything they have been asking for except that in every contract he signs he insists on that "no strike" provision. The men must not quit work. They can make any demands they please, and they are assured of not only negotiation but arbitration if necessary. But they must not stop producing the vitally needed war supplies while the argument over wages, or hours, or working conditions, goes on.

That, of course, is exactly what Woodrow Wilson asked for in the last war, and what Donald Nelson would love to have in this one.

It must be admitted that Kaiser has had a big advantage in getting this concession. Most of his enterprises have been new ones. At times union officials have balked at signing such a contract, but always, if so happens, this was BEFORE the new plant started.

KAISER'S next card was a simple one. He was terribly sorry, but, thank heaven, work had not started yet—he would take the new enterprise somewhere else! Invariably the union labor leaders in question decided that after all this anti-strike clause was not an insuperable barrier!

Kaiser was not always sympathetic with unions. In fact quite the contrary. But after the passage of the Wagner act he decided that there was no percentage in battling against what seemed to be the will of the majority.

Then, he tells Washington officials with a bit of humor, he had a lot of trouble. He had to MAKE his men join unions. They didn't want to, Kaiser says. They didn't want to split their pay envelopes by paying union dues.

The most striking feature of Kaiser's conversion, however, is that he is perfectly willing to let the unions do the hiring for his jobs.

"It's their responsibility," he said. "I put it up to them to get me as many men as I need. Or women for that matter. That's their job now, not mine. And they are doing a good job on it too."

MOST employers who grudgingly gave way and permitted unionization of their plants still jealously insist on the right to hire and fire. Union leaders are generally willing to grant the power to fire, but only if the unions themselves do the hiring. To the unions this is an essential for preventing a reactionary employer weeding out pro-union men and supplanting them with workers not in sympathy with the union leadership.

One wonders if all the war workers in the country would not approve the "no-strike" clause if they could get a chance to vote on it without anyone knowing how they voted!

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — One of the mysteries of the war effort, even to some of the most observant veterans on the capital scene, has been the many, many contradictions in official statements on almost every phase of defense.

It started as far back as the first gasoline rationing threat on the eastern seaboard, when it involved available tank cars, tankers, gasoline stocks and consumption, and a good many other statistics that Americans have prided themselves on having so accurately at their fingertips that any sophomore economist or engineering student could add them up and get the right answer.

IT SPREAD to the shipbuilding program and the possible conversion of the automobile industry to war production. For more than a year, this wildfire of contradiction has run amock in the aluminum and rubber production possibilities.

In recent weeks the president has intimated that some solution to the tire problem may be worked out before we are reduced to running on our rims. A New Jersey manufacturer testified before a congressional committee that he had a formula for making all the recapped tires necessary to keep all the cars in the country rolling and that formula would need only reclaimed rubber and two ounces per tire of natural rubber. Other high government officials in position to know declare that only nation-wide gas rationing will save us from a tire shortage disaster.

A friend of mine, a Washington newspaper man, wrote a book called "Confusion on the Potomac." It was published three days before Pearl Harbor. It contained political viewpoints that made it unpopular after Pearl Harbor.

He should have scrapped the book, saved the title, and written under it the mass of conflicting statements that have been issued from the offices of official Washington since the national defense effort really got under way.

THOUSANDS of bewildered citizens are asking: what is behind it all? I have talked to dozens of government officials and observers, some of them guilty of contributing to these very confusions. None, perhaps, has been able to give the whole answer, but the sum of their observations certainly is part of it.

In the first place, statistical information which used to be available to the whole world is now restricted and for military reasons can not be given even to all those officials whose departments are interested.

A man who can't get hold of all the details on next week-end weather, even though his business depends greatly on it, is going to have to rely some on his corns or that old wound on the shinbone. To some extent, that is how it has had to be with some government officials.

In the second place, the war, production, shortages, diplomacy and a good many other things have developed too fast for even the heartiest mental digestion. Today's truths become tomorrow's errors.

No democracy has ever moved as fast as the United States is moving today. It may have to move even faster. It would be a miracle if such movement didn't create contradictions.

Timely Editorial

Hoax Boomerangs.

The overzealous army publicity man who conceived the air-marker hoax may have intended to impress Americans with the imminent possibility of enemy air raids against our cities and military bases.

The fact that enemy agents COULD make arrows on the land to guide hostile planes is no excuse for trying to palm off a report, documented with pictures, in an effort to show that they DID do so.

American cities are in real danger of being bombed. Many people don't yet realize that. If the air-marker story had been able to stand the searchlight of truth, it might have served to impress the public with an appreciation of our danger. Exposed as a hoax, it simply makes the doubters more sure that it can't happen here.

The moral is plain but we wonder if all the smart publicity men in the the government's service will get it: Honesty is the best policy.—Akron Beacon Journal.

A Farmer's Diary

The Oats Got Wet

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I HELPED thresh oats at a neighbor's one sultry morning. The threshing rig had pulled in the night before. I saw it come up the graveled road, a modern rubber-tired tractor, and a modern light metal threshing machine, also on rubber . . . with one man for the crew.

Thirty years ago the engine would have been propelled by steam — dripping, sizzling pipes, black smoke, and light steam belching from a monstrous painted stack. A four-wheeled tender, with coal and water, was always coupled between the engine and the huge, wooden framed separator. Now nobody hauls water from a nearby stream or furnishes cheap threshing coal.

When I arrived the long main belt was on the pulleys of machine and tractor. The thin sheetmetal stacker reached up to the square built foundation of a stack like the massive neck of some prehistoric beast from which spewed yellow straw and dust.

High loads of oats were hauled from the nearby field. Two men forked sheaves into the automatic feeder. The grain came shelling out.

All went well, until dark clouds banked in the west and in one short hour rain began to fall. Waiting loads were quickly drawn into neighbors' barns. Grain in sacks was hastily loaded and hurried to shelter. We scooped the last scattered grain into a measure, then poured the remainder from the canvas on the ground and carried it dripping to the broad barn entry.

The barn smelled of new hay. At one side a team was munching.

It was near noon. We heard the clatter of dishes in the kitchen and sensed the quick movements of women preparing food. Even before the regular time, dinner was announced. Men with faces soiled, and some unshaven, gathered about two basins where was warm water and cleansing soap.

During the appetizing and sumptuous meal, a neighbor and his host exchanged tractors, "sight unseen." Both tractors were long past the point of usefulness. The exchange made, each told the other what defects he had encountered and why the tractor was no good. By the time dinner was over the skies had cleared, and the sun was visible—but the oats in the field was wet. It will not be fit to thresh for several days.

PERRINE - MUTCHICK SERVICE READ SUNDAY

At Formal Wedding In St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Shirley Perrine Becomes Mrs. Michael Mutchick.

AT A lovely wedding yesterday afternoon in the St. Matthew's Lutheran church, vows were exchanged between Miss Shirley Dorraine Perrine, daughter of Mrs. Pearl M. Perrine, 534 Woodland avenue, and Michael Mutchick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mutchick, Shelby. The service was read by Rev. Charles Sheriff.

Organist, Miss Anna Klippel, played "Indian Love Call," "All for You," and "Ava Maria." During the ceremony she played "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Harry Meier, soloist, offered, "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning." Palms and beauty baskets decorated the church.

The bride was given in marriage by Vernon E. Lipscomb, her uncle. Her wedding dress was of white ninon with a bodice waist, sweetheart neckline, full skirt of formal length. Narrow lace scalloped the puff sleeves and skirt. She wore a three strand pearl necklace, gift of the bridegroom.

A tiara of orange blossoms held the virgin style veil in place. Her bouquet was of Briarcliff rose buds, baby mums, delphinium tied with white satin streamers.

Bridesmaid was Miss Donna Eli, cousin of the bridegroom from Shelby. She wore a blue taffeta gown with headpiece of a velvet flower. Larkspur, Johanna Hill rose buds and delphinium formed her bouquet. Flower girl was little Beverly Anne Trott, cousin of the bride from Mt. Vernon, who was dressed in a pink frosted organdy formal and carried a bouquet of larkspur, baby mums and rose buds. Blue velvet streamers hung from her headpiece.

Mrs. Perrine looked attractive in a black sheer dress with white accessories and flowers of red rose buds and baby mums. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a dusty rose ensemble, white accessories and a corsage of blue delphinium and red rose buds.

Dean Eyster, cousin of the bride from Mt. Vernon, and James L. Davis served as ushers. A childhood friend of the new Mrs. Mutchick from Cleveland, Frank Bracken, jr., was best man. After the ceremony, a reception for 70 guests was held at the John's park club house. The bride's table was decorated with candles, flowers and a three tier cake. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Clyde Banham, Mrs Harry Meier and Mrs. Stanley Terman.

The couple then left for a wedding trip, for which the bride chose a brown and white dress with white accessories. They will make their new home at 283 Park avenue west in the Colonial apartments after Aug. 23. Mrs. Mutchick was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and is a secretary at the Westinghouse Federal Credit Union. The bridegroom attended Shelby high school and is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company in Crestline.

Guests were present from Shelby, Crestline, Cleveland, Painesville and Mt. Vernon.

Wedding Here Sunday Unites Nurse, Soldier

Miss Bertha Jesson, 168 Lind avenue, and Staff Sergt. Keith Brewster of Rose, N. Y., were united in marriage at 1:30 p. m. Sunday. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer performed the double ring ceremony in the First Lutheran church. The altar was attractively decorated with bouquets of mixed flowers.

Maid of honor for Miss Jesson was Miss Alice Brown, a close friend. Corp. Dale Boger of Akron served as best man for Sergeant Brewster.

For her wedding, Mrs. Brewster was attired in a wine colored velvet suit with black accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage. Miss Brown chose a navy blue suit and had a gardenia corsage.

The bride is a nurse at the Mansfield General hospital where she received her training. She is a graduate of the Killbuck high school. Sergeant Brewster is stationed at Fort Dix, N. J.

Hazel Satko Is Alaskan's Bride

From Juneau, Alaska, comes word of the marriage of Miss Hazel Satko, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Paul Satko, to Sergt. William Sylvester Brown. The bride's father is a native of Mansfield. Rev. William G. LeVasseur, S. J., performed the ceremony in the stone chapel at Saint Teresé, Alaska, on June 13.

Sergeant and Mrs. Brown have the distinction of being the first Alaskans married in the Shrine chapel. An article on their wedding was carried in all Alaskan newspapers and released to the Associated Press and National Catholic News Service.

Raindrop Hits Air Instructor In Eye, Grounds Him.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. —(AP)— Air instructor J. P. Landstreet knows now that a tiny raindrop can be a potent thing.

Flying through a rainstorm recently, Landstreet stuck his head out of the plane to see if traffic was clear before landing. A raindrop hit him in the eye.

Landstreet was grounded for a few days until his temporarily-paralyzed eye recovered.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"You know, as I do," I went on, while Ronald listened avidly, "that Carolyn has been so carefully guarded in Weirhampton since Uncle Dicky took her back, that no stranger has spoken to her, telephoned her, written her, or sent her any message."

They tried to send her messages, didn't they?" he asked, although he well knew the answer.

"Yes, twice, but both were intercepted," I replied. "Carolyn never received them, but we weren't able to learn who sent them because of our very thorough precautions against her receiving any messages.

"If she came down here," I said, "we might pretend to relax the precautions, although she really would be more closely guarded than ever. Even so, there is a chance that we would be better able to get a line on her trailers."

Agrees There's a Chance.

To gain time I took up the letter and made a pretext of reading it again, then laid it down and met Ronald's anxious eyes.

"Dear boy," I said, measuring my words, "I do not want to give you false hopes, but there is a chance that Carolyn has finally come to her senses and will tell us whatever she knows about this awful thing."

The bitter sound that came from Ronald's lips was like the groan of a man in torment.

"If only I could be sure that she has no guilty knowledge," he said. Then he rose, took the letter, read it through again and handed it back.

"If you want to show this to your father, it's all right," he said. "Do you really think he then may permit Carol to come down here?"

"I cannot tell," I parried, "but I think it very likely."

Ronald's Suggestion.

"I don't want to be officious," he said hesitantly, "but I believe there is one person who could get Carol to talk."

"And that person?' I asked.

"Is Marion's mother," he answered. "Carol always has adored her, and if Mrs. Underwood isn't too bitter against Carol to talk to her, she'd have a better chance to gain her confidence than anyone else."

"I think that's a good suggestion," I told him promptly, "and you may be assured that Mrs. Underwood is not bitter against Carol. I'll take all these things up with my father. When you go back, please ask him to come over here as soon as he can."

"I'll give him your message," he assured me. "And thank you so much, Aunt Madge."

He bent and kissed me, then left, a bit cheered I fancied, but his figure was bowed with anxiety.

Spencer Reads Letter.

There was fierce anger in my heart against Carolyn because of her brother's suffering as I waited for my father's coming. Then I thought perhaps I was doing the girl an injustice, as we had no concrete proof of her complicity in Marion's disappearance. By the time my father knocked upon the door I was in a more tolerant frame of mind.

"Donald said you wished to see me;" he said, as he came in and I handed him Carolyn's letter, saying "Ronald is willing that you read this, and I thought there ought not to be any delay in your seeing it. Please sit down."

He took a chair, read the letter carefully, then looked at me.

"What do you suggest, Margaret?" he asked.

Robert Banner Is Wedded Saturday In Cleveland

Saturday evening in the Messiah Lutheran church, Shaker Heights, Miss Elizabeth Jean Anthony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anthony, became the bride of a former Mansfielder, Robert Banner. Rev. Charles Sheriff, uncle of the bride, went to Cleveland to officiate for the service.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladoli. For her wedding, the former Miss Anthony wore a full length gown made in princess lines. A short veil was fastened to her Juliet cap. Her bridal bouquet was made of white roses, daisies and stephanotis.

Her attendant was Miss Helen Coleman, Steubenville, college friend of the bride. Her flowers were of yellow roses. Both Mrs. Banner and Mrs. Anthony were dressed in blue formal length gowns with roses. Ushers were the two brothers of the bride and bridegroom. William Crosby from this city served as best man.

A reception was held in the church parlors for 100 guests. Afterwards the newly-weds left for a trip. When they return they will make their home on Montrose avenue in Lakewood. Both of them are graduates from Ohio university, Athens, where Mr. Banner was affiliated with Pi Kappa Alpha, national social fraternity. Mrs. Banner has been teaching at Olmstead Falls and he is with the Herron laboratories in Cleveland as a chemist.

Out-of-town guests came from Youngstown, Ashland, Steubenville, Rocky River, Jacksonville, Fla., and Mansfield. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Banner live in Perrysville.

Miss Gensley Will Wed Mr. Channell

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Frances E. Gensley to Dale P. Channell, Newman street, was made Saturday afternoon at a luncheon given by the bride-elect's mother at Kaase's in Lakewood. Fifteen guests were served at 1:30 o'clock.

The wedding will be a formal ceremony at the Lakewood Presbyterian church on Oct. 17. Miss Gensley is a former society editor of The Mansfield News-Journal. Mr. Channell is employed by the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, August 18.

The Lunar transits for this day emphasize the prospect of attaining the high and happy goals of fulfilled ambitions and aspirations in both the business, cultural and private life. It is a time for concentrating the energies and prerogatives toward this end, with the thrill of attained hopes and wishes to be banked upon. Finances, credit, enhanced position in the good graces of those in high places, may flourish with personal popularity counting for much of an expansive, generous nature.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which the most cherished goals of fulfilled hopes and wishes may swing wide to bring a combination of progress, achievement, expansion, growth and personal prestige and popularity. The social and friendly element may figure in reaching the desired objectives, with those in high places cooperative but with some public or group collaboration withheld. Business, credits, domestic funds should increase and give pleasure. And the social, romantic and convivial enjoyments of life may be accelerated.

A child born on this day should have much creative ability, versatility and ambition. It should have a successful, honored and happy life.

Joan and Nancy Lou Snyder of Washington, D. C., are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hufford, 244 Poplar street. Joan, at left, will soon be nine years old and Nancy Lou will celebrate her third birthday anniversary this fall. With their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Snyder, who are visiting here also, the little girls will return to their home in Washington on Aug. 22. Mrs. Snyder is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hufford.

Oily Skin Does Make One Fret

By MME. QUI VIVE

Many there are who stand before beauty's wailing wall. If it isn't one thing it is another that tries their souls, sends them stampeding to cosmetic counters and pulchritude shops. But she who bawls the loudest is the girl with the oily skin. Her lamentations are loud and long-continued. She is entitled to sympathy because a beaming nose never got any medals and there is a limit to the time one can spend putting on the dull finish.

Powdering gives only temporary relief, especially in the summer. If the fluff stuff is to stick like a friend and a brother it must have an oily base; powders of that character seem to make sebaceous glands madder and they double their output. So, what must be done? Find the reason for the excessive oil. Specialists who are qualified to know say that overstimulation of sebaceous glands is the result of too much fat in the diet.

Our complaining blubberer will travel faster along the good looks road if she will put less butter on her bread, less cream in her coffee, fewer pastries in her tummy. Rich sauces are taboo. She will find her skin greatly benefitted if she will drink fruit juices, eat a green salad once a day.

The daily bath will aid her endeavors to dim a shining face. The skin is an organ of elimination; bathing with plenty of friction, either with wash cloth or bath brush, normalizes its functions. If a quick cold shower follows the warm, soapy scrubbing there will be a satisfactory reaction of the blood streams. Good circulation is an important factor in health as well as pleasing appearance.

It is necessary when the skin is oily to increase the intake of water, thereby helping the kidneys in their task of ridding the body of waste materials. Equally necessary it is to partake of fruits and leafy vegetables to keep the intestinal tract functioning regularly.

Health measures should be a part of every beauty seeker's campaign.

Now for local treatment. A bland soap should be used twice a day, every particle of suds removed. To leave upon the skin the lightest film is to increase the oily condition. After the facial tubbing there should be a hot, then cold rinsing, after which the skin must be dried with gentle pats and an astrjngent applied.

If an astringent is not an item in your cosmetic cabinet, your druggist can fill this prescription for you: one ounce of witch hazel, one-fourth ounce of powdered boric acid, one-half pint of camphor water. Apply with pledgets of cotton, letting it dry on. If the skin is rough and a cream is necessary, do not let it remain on for more than an hour or two.

Announcement Made Yesterday At Bush Home

Yesterday at a tea given by Mrs. R. G. Bush and daughters, 119 Vennum avenue, the forthcoming marriage of Miss Alvern Bates and Alfred L. Sneeringer was announced to the 25 friends, who came during the afternoon. The bride-elect is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoover, 334 West Sixth street and the prospective bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Sneeringer, reside on Ashland road.

The announcement was disclosed when individual appointment books were distributed to the guests by Sandy and Dickie Beal, cousins of Miss Bates. From the books it was learned that the service will be solemnized Sept. 5 at 2:30 p. m. in the Oakland Lutheran church with Rev. Nevin Stover officiating.

Mrs. Bush who is the aunt of Miss Bates, had her home decorated with fall flowers, with appointments in yellow, orange and white. Another cousin, Mrs. Ray Beal, presided at the table. Many further parties are being planned.

Party Given In Shelby Saturday

Mrs. Howard Sotzen and her daughter, Mrs. Henry Geary, entertained with a luncheon-bridge in Shelby on Saturday honoring Miss Katherine Rhoads, bride-elect of Lieut. Stanley Groth Fisher. Sixteen guests were served at a table attractively decorated with white sweet peas and white roses.

Miss Rhoads' place was marked with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Recipients of prizes in bridge were Miss Virginia Boyd of Galion, Mrs. Robert Finical and Mrs. Cloyd Hines of Mansfield. The honoree was presented with a shower of miscellaneous gifts.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

SPLIT THOSE HONORS

Through you comes the lead of a small card from the opponent at your right. You hold a pair of touching honors, the king-queen or queen-jack of the suit. Most of the time—not all, but at least 80 per cent—you should cover that lead by playing one of your two honors instead of a small card. Failure to do that may enable the hand at your left to take the trick very cheaply, with the card ranking just beneath your honors.

	♠ A 9 7 6 ♥ K 9 3 ♦ J 9 5 ♣ 7 6 5
♠ 8 3 2 ♥ Q J 6 ♦ A 8 7 ♣ 10 9 3 2	N W E S	♠ J 4 ♥ 8 5 4 2 ♦ K 10 4 ♣ K Q 8 4
	♠ K Q 10 5 ♥ A 10 7 ♦ Q 6 3 2 ♣ A J

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 NT	Pass	4 ♠

Bidding was exactly like that at two tables of a duplicate tournament, except that in one case South jumped from the 2-Spades directly to 4-Spades. Both methods of bidding showed abundant confidence by South, to say the least. One of the declarers was set two tricks and the other made his contract, by virtue of two mistakes by the defense in failure to "split honors."

Where the contract was beaten, West led the spade 2, the J falling to the Q, and two more spade tricks scoring. The heart 7 was led and West split honors, playing his J and forcing the K. The club 5 came back, East putting on the Q and pushing out the A. This left the defenders in a position to get a trick in clubs and one in hearts. When the diamond 2 was sent to the J and K, East cashed the club K and returned the heart 2, the 10 losing to the Q. Later the defenders took two more tricks in diamonds, beating the contract two.

At the other table, the deal started with three spade tricks. This declarer didn't play diamonds next either, but led the same heart 7 to the fourth trick. West played low, and the 9 picked up a gratuitous trick. The club 5 came back, East also failing to split honors and putting on the 8. The J therefore won that trick — a gift. Thereafter the defenders could take nothing but three diamond tricks, so the contract was made, due to a double violation of the principle of splitting honors.

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ Q 10 8 ♥ J 8 6 ♦ A 10 4 ♣ K 10 9 3

If South gets into an overbid contract of 6-Hearts, how should he play this hand after the fortuitous lead of the spade 4?

LOIS PHIFER WEDS N. H. SANDERS, JR.

Vows Exchanged At 12:30 p. m. In First Lutheran Church; Reception Held At Susie Janis Tea Room.

BEFORE the altar of the First Lutheran church, which was decorated with large baskets of gladioli, Miss Lois Marilynn Phifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philo W. Phifer, 232 Poplar street, became the bride of Norman H. Sanders, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Sanders of Greenwich, at 12:30 p. m. Sunday. Dr. Grover H. Swoyer performed the single ring ceremony.

Miss Phifer had as her attendants Mrs. William Rock of Nova, matron of honor, and her stepsister, Miss Phyllis Bottomley, as bridesmaids. Mr. Sanders was attended by William Rock of the U. S. naval reserves at Gross Ile, Mich., and William Herpich of Mansfield, who will also enter the U. S. naval air service in the near future.

The bride wore a street length jacket frock of navy blue and chartreuse with navy blue accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of white roses, gardenias and stephanotis. A necklace of pearls which had belonged to her mother, was the bride's only jewelry. Mrs. Rock was attired in a rose colored frock with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses and stephanotis. A gold colored frock was worn by the bridesmaid, Miss Bottomly, whose accessories were black. Talisman roses, gardenias and swansonia formed her corsage.

Mrs. Phifer chose a crepe print dress of green and white for her daughter's wedding. She had a corsage of roses and swansonia. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Lois Ferrell, wore a black dress and a corsage of gardenias. A navy blue and white dress was worn by Mrs. Sanders, whose flowers were roses and swansonia.

Before and during the ceremony, Mrs. Clayson Bell, organist, played several nuptial selections. A wedding reception was held at the Susie Janis tea room immediately after the ceremony, for the immediate families and the attendants.

Mrs. Sanders, a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, is now employed by Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company. The bridegroom is in the U. S. naval reserve air force, stationed at Gross Ile, Mich., as a mechanic. The couple left after the reception for a short wedding trip. After Oct. 1, Mr. and Mrs. Sanders will be at Gross Ile.

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Russ Davies of the Elyria Chronicle-Telegram didn't like the seeding arrangement for the state girls' softball tournament at Akron. Just before the tourney he told his readers:

"Officials of the Ohio State girls' championship softball tournament at Akron continue to dilly-dally around, a practice which appears to be most common with each and every person connected in any way with the Ohio Amateur Softball association. Which, to this corner's way of thinking, is one of the dilly-dallyingest groups in existence.

"First it was announced by tournament manager, Phil Dienoff of Akron, that two teams—the defending state champion Provident Loans of Mansfield and the Cuyahoga Falls Fair Bond Oils—would be seeded.

"Now comes the announcement that officials have decided to seed four teams, the others, in addition to those named above, being the Columbus J. & K. Shoes, Columbus district champions, and the Dayton district titlists.

"How officials agreed on a list of teams to seed has not been announced, and the whole thing appears mighty mysterious.

* * *

"If four teams were to be seeded, why didn't the list of seeded teams include the Bittner Funeral Home of Ridgeville? Maybe officials figured that the Bittner girls aren't good enough to be seeded. Or perhaps they forgot that the Bittners were the second best girls' team enrolled in the Ohio Amateur Softball association last year.

"Didn't the Bittners go as far as the state championship final before losing the title to the Provident Loan girls 6-3?

"Something stinks!"

Oooooo Mr. Davies! Such a word! In connection with feminine sport! Tsk, tsk. And what must District Softball Commissioner Carl Wagner of Elyria think of you?

(But there does seem to be something to his argument, don't you think so?)

* * *

"Bash 'em abaft the beam. Smack 'em amidship. Tack to starboard. Lower the 'spanker'."

"That," says Whizzer White, long identified as one of my better operatives, "is what you may expect to hear Coach Al Fendrick yelling at his Madison football Rams this fall."

Whizzer had just witnessed a sailing demonstration by the Madison mentor and Al Kipp at Charles Mill.

"Why?" Whizzer asked Al, "do you appear so calm and serene out here on the sky blue water? Aren't you worried about this coming football season?"

"You've heard about submarining in the line haven't you?" retorted Al. "I'm just getting some first-hand information on the subject."

* * *

"Yes," chimed in Kipp "But if he pilots the Rams the way he did my boat, we are in for an awful season."

SATCHEL DEFEATED IN FIRST STAR GAME

CHICAGO—(AP)—Satchel Paige lost his first east-west all-colored baseball game in four seasons yesterday at Comiskey park before 48,000 spectators, largest crowd of the year at a ball game here.

The east won its sixth game in 10 played in the series by a score of 5-2.

* * *

Paige went to the mound in the seventh inning with the count deadlocked 2-all and gave up a run. The east clubbed him for two more runs in the ninth when Bill Wright of Baltimore singled

Provident Loans Lose Title In 13-Inning 1 to 0 Tourney Battle

Painesville Arcades Become New Ohio Girl Softball Champions

THEY aren't state champions any longer, but Mansfield's Provident Loan girls went down fighting like champions in the state softball tournament at Akron yesterday, losing a 13-inning, 1-0 game to Columbus Wilks Meats in the semi-finals.

Wilks then lost the championship to the Painesville Arcades in the final game last night 3-1, while the Providents were dropping a 6-4 decision to Columbus J. & K. Shoes of Columbus in a consolation tilt.

* * *

The Mansfield - Wilks game was easily the best exhibition of girls' softball in the tournament as both teams played brilliant ball in the field to back up the pitching duel which went six extra innings.

* * *

Then it took a break to decide the game, a break that came from trying too hard. With Chapman on second and one out in the 13th, Ethlyn "Gussie" Feyh, pitching star of the tournament, drove a line drive to left field. Tip Tipul was set to catch it, but Lefty Nettleton, rover, picked up from Elyria, ran in front of her, making a stab at the ball, and obscured Tip's view long enough to let the ball get away for a hit.

Nettleton had saved the game in the preceding inning with a double play, taking a line drive in short center, and firing a perfect peg home for the third out.

The Providents still boast two records in the state tournament. They are the only team to win the championship in two consecutive years. And they are the only representative of the tournament to go past the first round in the national tourney, having won one game in 1940 and two in 1941.

* * *

Outstanding star of the tournament was little Gussie Feyh, energetic farm girl who hurled all four tournament games for Wilks, allowed only eight hits in 34 innings, and turned in a no-hit victory Saturday night.

She let the Providents down with four hits in 13 innings, two of them singles by Donna Schuster, and the others singles by Tip Tipul and Ruth Whiteman.

And in the championship game against Painesville's slugging team of youngsters, she allowed only two hits, but saw the game lost on poor judgment in throwing to the wrong bases on bunts, resulting in the two deciding runs.

* * *

The new softball champions from Painesville were the youngest team in the tournament, with nine players 18 years old or younger. Pitcher Betty Brott, who held Wilks to five hits in the final game, and who also was hurling her fourth game of the tournament, is only 15, and slugging Catcher Vavell, who got two doubles and a triple in the semi-final victory over Columbus J. & K. Shoes, is only 16.

Jeanette Feist, Elyria hurler pitching for Mansfield in the semi-finals, gave only 8 hits in the 13-inning battle, two of them coming in the last frame.

The new state champions were signed to meet the Provident girls at North Lake park next Sunday afternoon.

Entries Close In Net Tourney

Many More Needed Before Filing Deadline Tonight.

Entries for the annual News-Journal city tennis tournament close tonight, but any entries placed in the mail tonight and received before tomorrow afternoon will be accepted and placed in the tournament pairings.

Pairings are to be made tomorrow afternoon, and will be announced in Wednesday's paper in time for week-end play in the first round. Most matches will be played at Maple Lake park, but Woodland club members paired in the preliminary rounds will play on their home court.

Entries have been coming in in encouraging fashion, but have been spread over all divisions of the tournament, and many more are needed today to make an interesting and successful tournament.

* * *

While many of Mansfield's best tennis players are in service or war work outside of town, the tournament should provide plenty of fun for those who are left, and leave the championship race wide open.

Al Javery Shows Why He Deserved All-Star Honor.

By GAYLE TALBOT

After what happened to their pitchers in last month's all-star game, the national league master minds should be giving themselves a good mental kicking around every time they read Al Javery's name in a box score these days.

The Boston Braves' string bean currently is about the hottest pitcher in either league, fast living up to Manager Casey Stengel's spring prediction that he would be recognized as one of the game's great hurlers before the season ended. On his present form, Al would have been a real ornament to the nationals' all-star line-up.

He blanked the Dodgers 2 to 0 in seven innings yesterday, Javery completed his 19th consecutive inning without having allowed a run.

The Dodgers' setback, in conjunction with the St. Louis Cardinals' double victory over Cincinnati, 10-5, and 6-3, put the Cards back within eight games of the top today.

The Chicago Cubs, behind tight pitching by Bill Lee and Les Fleming, defeated Pittsburgh, 5-1, and 4-1.

Mel Ott's Giants tightened their hold on third place by trimming the Phils, 6-5.

The Boston Red Sox took a firmer grip on second place in the American league as they swept their doubleheader with Washington, 6-4, and 10-3. They held a three-game lead over Cleveland today.

Home runs by Joe DiMaggio and Joe Gordon paced the Yankees to an 11-2 victory over the Athletics in a six-inning affair at Shibe park.

Detroit came from behind twice to win two decisions over the Chicago White Sox, 3-2 and 7-3, the first game going 11 innings.

Cleveland the St. Louis Browns battled to a standoff, the Indians wining the first game 3-2 in 11 inning and the Browns taking the second 6-1.

ALSAB ENTERED

CHICAGO —(INS)— Alsab, the Chicago colt that took a few strides in his comeback campaign when he won the South Chicago handicap at Washington Park Saturday, was one of the nominees today for the $5,000 Dick Welles handicap of one mile which will be run Thursday.

Travelers Lose To Mt. Vernon

Shellmar Team Comes From Behind In Late Stanzas.

Trailing 4-1 after five innings, Mt. Vernon Shellmar Products staged a comeback at the Fairground yesterday afternoon to defeat the Mansfield Travelers baseball club 10-6.

Shellmar scored five runs in the sixth and seventh frames, to take the lead, and added four more in the ninth. Willard Lockhart relieved Pat Patterson on the mound for the Travelers in the seventh.

Mansfield collected 11 hits off the veteran Lefty Cochran, while Shellman got 15 safe blows.

Tribe Splits With Browns

Boudreau Drives In Run To Win 11-Inning Game.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— It was bound to happen sometime.

It came as the Indians sank into one of their worst battling slumps of the season. That was enough to disturb Manager Lou Boudreau, but then he got the first booing of his career from the Cleveland fans —for removing a pitcher.

Lou knew how to reply. With two men out in the 11th inning of yesterday's opening game, the boy manager drove in the winning run for a 3 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Browns. The Tribe dropped the nightcap, 6 to 1.

By dividing the twin bill, the Indians remained in third place with a lead of two and a half games over the Browns as they prepared to go into tonight's finale. Mel Harder will be seeking his 10th victory against Johnny Niggeling.

Boudreau got the Bronx when he took out Chubby Dean in the ninth inning of the opener. The Tribe was leading 2 to 0, two men were out and two Brownies were on bases as Harry Eisenstat took over. He pitched to only two batters, but their singles knotted the score. Tom Ferrick finished, holding the Browns hitless in the remaining two and one-third innings to get credit for the victory.

* * *

With one out in the second extra-inning, Jeff Heath and Les Fleming singled, Heath going to third. Taking one ball, Boudreau then sent a long fly to center and Heath scored after the catch.

The Tribe got its two other runs in the fourth, bunching three hits off Eldon Auker with a squeeze bunt.

Joe Mayer Leads Mansfielders In Men's Golf Tourney At Toledo

MANSFIELD'S Thelma Linster yesterday won her third straight Ohio women's public links golf championship in the annual tournament at Toledo by a seven stroke margin over her nearest competitor. She also took the second leg on the Governor's trophy, presented last year by Governor John W. Bricker, to become the permanent possession of the first three-time winner of the trophy.

Thelma once more showed her marked superiority over Ohio's pay-as-you-play women golfers. After an 83 on the opening round, she breezed home with an 80 on the final 18 for a total of 163. Second was Mrs. Helen Callahan of Youngstown with 170, and Mrs. Emma Wolf of Youngstown was third with 171.

* * *

Only 19 players entered the 36-hole, one-day tournament at Ottawa park which earlier in the season was cancelled because of the war.

State men's championship went to Val Chiaverini of Toledo who carded 73-73—146 for a three-stroke lead over Jimmy Meier of Toledo. W. Pacer, also of Toledo, was third with 150.

A field of 151 fired for the men's trophy, and included nine Mansfield golfers.

Leading the Mansfielders was Joe Mayer with 153. Other Mansfield scores included: Al Hager 155, Al Kushin 160, Pete Linster 167, and Dean Robinson 172.

War bonds and stamps made up the prize list, and the 1943 tournament was tentatively awarded to Dayton.

Tourney Goes To Semi-Finals

Gene Zediker Breaks Par In Westbrook Club Golf.

Second round of play in the Westbrook Country club golf tournament was completed yesterday sending the battle for the club championship into the semi-finals.

This week Bob Moorhead, former champion, meets Howard Sotzen, and Gene Zediker meets Marion Ward junior for the right to play in the championship match.

Moorhead defeated Bart Haley 2-1, Sotzen won from Howard Hosler 3-2, Ward eliminated Al Hager 5-4, and Zediker defeated L. L. Wenger 6-4.

Zediker shot the best round of the tournament thus far, turning in a two-under-par 70.

In the second flight J. A. Casperson edged W. G. Carr 1 up, Bob Glassner advanced by default over P. W. Auxter, M. W. Hieber won from J. A. Lewin 1 up; and J. A. Vassar advanced by default over T. R. Sammons.

In third flight matches Paul Cropper defeated E. K. Bacon 5 and 4, J. O. Hanley won from C. G. Hillier, 4-3, and J. A. Sullivan defeated E. J. Hegerty 7-6.

* * *

Father and son, the J. E. Hugos, senior and junior, will meet in the lower bracket semi-finals of the fourth flight, both advancing by defaults. Dr. W. Wilson won the only match played, defeating Rex Zediker, 4-3.

Charles Samson Wins Net Crown

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Charles Samson, 18-year-old Portsmouth star, is the new Ohio valley tennis champion.

Samson continued a straight-set victory march through the finals yesterday, upsetting Jim Ratliff of Cincinnati, seeded No. 1, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Samson also won the junior singles crown by defeating Alvin Bunis of Cincinnati 12-10, 6-2, but, paired with Bunis, lost the men's doubles final to the Ratliff brothers, Jim and Chalmers, metropolitan titlists, 4-6, 8-6, 6-3.

* * *

Jane Wagner of Cincinnati upset Defending Champion Alice MacDonald of Chicago for the women's singles championship 6-0, 7-5.

SLIGHT GAINS REGISTERED ON STOCK MARKET

Army and Navy Claim First Call on Nation's Iron and Steel Supply.

NEW YORK — Leading stocks moved to fractionaly higher levels in today's early market transactions.

At a moderately active opening gainers included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Woolworth, Atlantic Coast Line, Hiram Walker and Goodrich.

Market students scanned the survey of the magazine "Steel" which, in commenting on the tightening of the war production board's grip on steel for military needs, said that "the immediate effect of this is to subordinate all requirements considered to be of a essential character. The army and navy now have authority over the right-o-way of the nation's iron and steel supplies."

Notice also was taken of the National Industrial conference board summary estimating that living costs during July rose in 34 of 67 cities. The board found no change in nine cities and a slight decline in 24. Hourly and weekly earnings and payrolls, it was added, established new records in June.

ORDINANCE NO. 42-187

By Mr. Kyle:

Determining to proceed with the improvement of portions of Park Avenue East, Ashland Road, City Square, Hedges Street and East First Street by Resurfacing with asphalt top and appropriating the sum of fifteen thousand five hundred and fifty dollars ($15,550.00) as stated.

Be it Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio:

Section 1: That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of the following portions of Park Avenue East, Ashland Road, City Square, Hedges Street and East First Street, by resurfacing with asphalt top.

North Park Street

North Main Street from south line of Park Avenue West to south line of Library Court.

South Main Street from south line of Park Avenue West to north line of Luther Place

South Park Street

South Diamond Street from south line of Park Avenue East to south line of South Park Street

North Diamond Street from south line of Park Avenue East to south line of Waring Avenue

Park Avenue East from Diamond Street to a point 412 feet east of intersection of Park Avenue East and Ashland Road; Ashland Road from Park Avenue East to east corporation line of City of Mansfield, Ohio, which lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefited by said improvement, and which is in accordance with resolution No. 42-133 passed July 7, 1942, and in accordance with the plans, specifications, estimates, and profiles heretofore approved and now on file in the offices of the Service Director and State Highway Engineer.

Section 2: That of the total estimated cost of said improvement to the City of Mansfield, being in amount twenty-five thousand five hundred fifty dollars ($25,550.00), the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00) shall be assessed in proportion to the benefits which may result from the improvement upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting the improvement upon the Park Avenue, City Square and Ashland Road portions only which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefited by said improvement. The said total cost of said improvement to the City shall include the expense of the preliminary and other surveys and of printing and publishing the notices, resolutions and ordinances required, and the serving of said notices, and cost of construction, together with interest on notes and bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

Section 3: That the assessments to be levied shall be in five (5) annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection thereof, provided that the owner of any property assessed, may, at his option pay such assessment in cash within 30 days after the passage of the assessing ordinance.

Section 4: That bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto, and notes of said City shall be issued in anticipation of the levying of such assessment and the issue of such bonds.

Section 5: That to pay the remainder of the cost of said improvement there be and is hereby appropriated from th following funds and following amounts:

From the unappropriated Registration Fee Fund	$ 8,000.00
From the unappropriated 1-6 Gas Tax Fund	3,000.00
From the unappropriated General Fund	4,550.00
Total	$15,550.00

Section 6: That the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized and directed as soon as the funds therefor are available to make and execute a contract for said improvement with the lowest and best bidder after advertisement, or at his option to cooperate with the State of Ohio in another arrangement as may be according to law.

Section 7: This ordinance shall take effect and be in full force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed Aug. 4, 1942.

Signed: CHAS. N. SHULTZ, President Pro Tem of Council.

Attest: R. R. BLACK, Clerk of Council.

Approved: W. J. LOCKE, Mayor.

U.S. RAIDS ON EUROPE CLOSER

Doolittle's Visit To London Increases Speculation Over Attacks.

for American participation in force in raids on Germany and the occupied countries of Europe is rapidly approaching.

Coincident with disclosure that General Doolittle has taken up a post on this main springboard of attack against Hitlerism, a copy of a new weekly publication called "British Ally," prepared by the British embassy in Kuibyshev, reached London.

It contained a statement by Air Marshal Sir Arthur Travers Harris, chief of the British bomber command, in which he said that aid given to Russia by mass bombings of Germany "is only the beginning."

"Soon the Americans will join us," he said. "And before the end of this summer the Germans will feel in real earnest the full force of our bombers."

The Germans, of course, had a ready answer. The British radio picked up a Frankfurter Zeitung broadcast which said:

"When the bulk of the German air force is no longer tied up in Russia, things beyond their wildest imagination will happen to the British. Then they will realize what the Luftwaffe really is. A column of fire will scorch the island."

The British will experience something of which they have not "the slightest premonition," the Nazi newspaper said.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that German newspapers have begun to warn the Nazi public that a large-scale invasion of the European continent by strong American forces must be expected.

The Berlin correspondent of the Zurich newspaper Neue Zuercher Zeitung, advised his newspaper that the Berliner Boersen Zeitung, once a stock market paper but now the organ of the German army, had published a warning that vast concentrations of American forces based in Britain are preparing for a continental invasion.

"Nowhere outside the United States are there such big concentrations of American expeditionary forces as there are in Britain," the Berlin paper said

"It is now apparent that after months of consultation, the newly-created American army is aiming to test its mettle in a continental invasion."

THEATERS

Wartime Drama.

"This Above All," the emotional wartime drama based on Eric Knight's novel by the same name, is showing at the Ohio. Joan Fontaine and Tyrone Power appear as the two Britishers who attempt to work out their own salvation in the stress of the battle. Miss Fontaine plays a member of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, while Power enacts a deserter from the British army after Dunkirk. Thomas Mitchell, Gladys Cooper and Nigel Bruce are among the players.

Gay Comedy.

The sparkling comedy of a career woman who falls in love with her secretary, the Madison attraction, "Take a Letter Darling," stars Rosalind Russell and Fred MacMurray. Gay and sophisticated the picture deals with MacMurray's efforts to charm a contract out of a southern family and the subsequent jealousy it arouses in his lady employer. MacDonald Carey of the New York stage plays the second male lead and Rosa Robert Benchley is in the cast. "Sweater Girl," featuring Eddie Bracken is the second attraction.

Musical Picture.

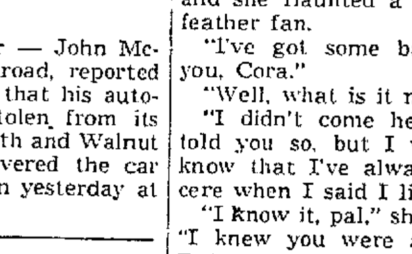

Bud Abbott and Lou Costello become a pair of house detectives at a Texas hotel in "Rio Rita," the musical comedy at the Ritz that also features Kathryn Grayson and John Carroll. They start a chase for enemy agents who rigged up a radio to look like a basket of apples. Many of the original songs of the stage version of "Rio Rita" are used in the picture including the "Ranger's Song." Roy Rogers in "Sons of the Pioneers" is the second attraction.

Alaskan Thriller.

Rex Beach's "The Spoilers," at the Park presents John Wayne, Marlene Dietrich and Randolph Scott in the thrilling drama of the Alaskan gold rush. The story deals with the love of two men for one woman and their fight to the death to possess her. Harry Carey, Richard Barthelmess and William Farnum, the latter star of the original "Spoilers," are in the cast. The second picture "Hello Annapolis," features Tom Brown.

A FAIR DEAL FOR EVERY PATRON

Patrons have found at the Finefrock Funeral Home the two important things necessary to satisfactory funeral service.

First—and never to be overlooked—is personal understanding service, with equipment to meet any requirement.

Second—and equally important—every patron gets full value for the money regardless of the amount they spend.

CHAPTER XXX

"Pull off that coffin lid, Morley," ordered Gordon.

Morley's lips curled contemptuously, "All right, sure. If I must!" He shoved the heavy lid aside with both hands. He bent his head and looked in. "Why, the coffin's empty!" he exclaimed.

"Didn't you know that before you looked in, Mr. Morley?" asked the district attorney who pushed Gordon aside and now faced Morley.

"Know it? How should I?" Morley said indignantly.

"Remember, I'm the D. A. Your manner is not very co-operative."

"I'm sorry sir, but I didn't know it was empty. How could I know? Did the body decompose?"

"That depends on how you accept such a miracle. No trace of a body buried only four years is more than remarkable! Mr. Morley, you are accused of murdering Mrs. Laurie Morley."

"Me? Who accuses me?"

"I do," rang out the clear voice of Gordon Blake.

Morley leaped at Gordon, his artificial hand stuck out like a claw, the other clenched for a blow. They caught him; it took the four of them to hold him. They held him flat on the coffin top, where he squirmed like a snake, hissed and spat, cursing Gordon. Then he shouted at them, "He's trying to get me in a jam so that I can't marry his wife. Well, he can't get away with it, you swine!"

"Mr. Morley, this is Dr. Arnold Wilson," said the D. A.

Morley stared up at Dr. Wilston.

"Dr. Wilston tells me that the present Mrs. Blake paid for a piece of radium that he received as a gift for his laboratory in the east."

"I don't see how this concerns me. Let me up."

"Of course. Let Mr. Morley stand up. Now, Mr. Morley, Dr. Wilston brought the receipt he received for the check he gave in exchange for the radium. Will you glance at the receipt, please?"

* * *

Morley took the receipt, looked at it.

"What signature is on the receipt, Mr. Morley? . . . Well, well, Mr. Morley, you can read, can't you? What name is signed there?"

"Alvin Oliver."

"After you married the present Mrs. Blake, what was the name of your butler at Moonhollow?"

"Alvin Oliver!"

"Did the present Mrs. Blake know that you and her butler were intimate friends?"

"I deny that Alvin Oliver and I were ever intimate friends."

"But during the lifetime of Mrs. Laurie Morley he lived in your home as a friend?"

"He lived in our home, yes."

"Would you say that Alvin Oliver was a rich man?"

"I never discussed his finances."

"Would you say he was rich enough to own a piece of radium?"

"I haven't the slightest idea."

"Then let me tell you that until Mrs. Laurie Morley died, Alvin Oliver never had a bank account."

Morley's lips quivered.

"This is all news to me," he said. "Naturally, I am surprised and shocked by what I have just seen and heard. But I don't know any more about it than you do." He continued smoothly with, "I'll do anything I can to help you solve the mysterious disappearance of my wife's body."

"Splendid, Mr. Morley. I felt you would co-operate if you could. Now tell me, did you ever apply to the cemetery for a permit to remove the body?"

"I? Of course not! Certainly not! Why should I?"

"Excellent! Because no such permit has been issued by them. Therefore, if the body was removed without a permit, it is a serious crime." The D. A. smiled broadly as though he were pinning a medal on Morley for heroism. He turned to Dr. Wilston and frowned.

* * *

"Dr. Wilston, would you mind telling Mr. Morley exactly what you found when you analyzed the bones of the three animals that died in Mrs. Laurie Morley's bedroom?"

"Traces of alpha-rays and disintegration."

"Thank you, Doctor! Now, Mr. Morley, here is a warrant for your arrest. Mr. Blake accuses you or Alvin Oliver, or both of you, of concealing the piece of radium that is now in Dr. Wilston's possession, beneath the flooring directly under the bed of the late Mrs. Laurie Morley, causing her to die by radium poisoning."

"I've never heard such an outrageous lie. Surely I needn't stand here and listen to any more of this clap trap . . . Tear up that warrant or you'll regret it."

"We'll detain you here only a short while longer to prove the complete fallacy of the whole story. Dr. Wilston, will you please tell Mr. Morley what you told me?"

The Doctor stepped up to Morley. "Well, sir," he said, "I told the district attorney that a clever murderer would have had Mrs. Laurie Morley's body cremated because a radium impregnated body would remain for years, and always be dangerous evidence against him."

"I refuse to listen to another word. Let me out of this mausoleum. Are you through now?"

"Of course, Mr. Morley. But just one question more."

"Well, what is it?"

"You lost your hand, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Through a radium infection, didn't you?" said the D. A.

"But the hospital report states otherwise. It mentions your hand was amputated because of a radium-poisoning infection!" The district attorney smiled.

"Now, Mr. Morley, we'll take you for a short ride to the crematory down the road," said the D. A.

Presently Morley and the other men entered the office at the crematory, where the shrewd-eyed manager looked at Morley over the top of his steel-rimmed spectacles.

"Yup, D. A.," he chirped, "that's one of the men who brought her in here. He didn't want her ashes, either. He told us to throw them away. He paid for the work. He left before we put the body in the oven. I never had a chance to give him her wedding ring which she was still wearing on her finger. But I kept it. We never burn gold. Here it is, Mr. Morley, I saved it for you. I thought prehaps some day you would come back to claim it."

Morley stepped back, refused to take it, "I don't know anything about any body brought here." He glanced at the ring and added quickly, "And, anyway, this wedding ring isn't Laurie's. I should know better than anyone else about that. I bought her wedding ring. It was platinum."

"You're mistaken, Morley. It was made of gold from her Jackpot mine," said Gordon, breaking a long silence. "I'll read you the inscription on the inside of it. That may refresh your memory! 'With all my love, from Clifford to Laurie'."

Morley's face was covered with perspiration. "No, no, I didn't do it," he screamed. "I didn't. Let me out of here. I didn't do it!"

"Put the handcuffs on him," ordered the district attorney, "and send a detail of men to his house on Callada road and pick up Alvin Oliver. It looks like we've caught the two birds with one stone."

* * *

That night before her dance at the Gold Nugget, Gordon spoke to Cora in her dressing-room. She wore one of her new red costumes and she flaunted a large purple feather fan.

"I've got some bad news for you, Cora."

"Well, what is it now?"

"I didn't come here to say I told you so, but I want you to know that I've always been sincere when I said I liked you."

"I know it, pal," she said softly, "I knew you were a right guy. But you got me hot when you let loose about Cliff."

"Thanks, Cora. Remember I am your friend, as long as you live. My news is about Cliff. He and Oliver are in jail." Her lips became tight. Gordon continued slowly. "Indicted for the murder of Laurie Morley by radium poisoning."

Cora stared at him blankly.

The call boy knocked at the door, stuck his red head inside, "You've got five minutes, Miss Leroy . . . I say you got five minutes."

"Get me a taxi," she whispered, "and tell him to wait!"

"Okay. Miss Leroy, I'll have one for you in two minutes."

"I gotta go on," she said. Gordon waited. She stumbled to the center of the dance floor. Gordon saw her in the blue light, heard the moan of the sax, the ripple of applause at her entrance. Her song was sad, "I loved him so, and now he's gone," she sang. Then on the upswing of music he watched her dance, sway low and finally fling her feather fan at them.

She collapsed when she returned to her dressing-room. The manager and the call boy helped Gordon lift her. "You gotta take her to a hospital. She's sick!" said the manager.

"Not to a hospital," Cora whispered. "Take me to the jail . . . where he is."

The sunlight that now covered Moonhollow with a mild gold light lay like a benediction on the shoulders of the slim man standing before the door.

He was remembering how the sun had shone on that first day when he pressed the pearl door button as though calling for the gates of Paradise to open. From inside responded the same mellow chime, as though he had struck a golden gong in some heaven.

"Gordon Blake, my lad, you're entering the portals of paradise, but for good. Behind that door waits your Audrey."

The door opened. There she stood, like a queen waiting for her long gone lover returning.

"You're Mr. Blake," she said breathlessly. "Mrs. Morley's new husband . . . shall I tell Madam that you are here?"

"Hello, princess," he murmured, looking down at her coppery head. "Lift up that strong little chin. I've something for you, something I've had since the first day I opened this door.

'Close your eyes," he said, and her lids closed as her lips bent upward. Slowly his lips touched hers; she responded like a harp string touched with the music of divinity.

Outside a beetle droned. A flowering tree shook its perfumed blossoms, and the sun smiled.
